(3) Instrument of Instructions to the Governor-General of India.

* * * * *

INDIA.

INSTRUCTIONS passed under the Royal Sign Manual and Signet to the Governor-General of India.

Dated 8th March 1937. GEORGE R. I.

INSTRUCTIONS TO OUR GOVERNOR-GENERAL OF INDIA.

GIVEN at Our Court at Buckingham Palace the Eighth day of March 1937 in the First year of Our Reign.

WHEREAS by Letters Patent bearing date the fifth day of March Nineteen hundred and thirty-seven. We have made permanent provision for the office of Governor-General of India:

AND WHEREAS by those Letters Patent and by the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereinafter called "the Act") certain powers, functions and authority for the Government of India are declared to be vested in the Governor-General:

AND WHEREAS His late Majesty King George V did before the enactment of the Act issue certain Instructions under His Royal Sign Manual to Our said Governor-General bearing date the fifteenth day of March nineteen hundred and twenty-one, and did subsequently amend the same:

AND WHEREAS the impending commencement of Part III of the Act has rendered it necessary to revoke the said Instructions:

AND WHEREAS without prejudice to the provision in the Act that our Governor-General shall be under the general control of and comply with such particular directions, if any, as may from time to time be given by Our Secretary of State and to the duty of Our Governor-General to give effect to any Instructions so received, We are minded to make general provision regarding the manner in which during the operation of the provisions of Part XIII of the Act Our said Governor-General shall execute all things which according to the Act and the said Letters Patent belong to his office and to the trust which we have reposed in him:

NOW, THEREFORE, We do by these Our Instructions under Our Royal Sign Manual hereby revoke the aforesaid Instructions and declare Our pleasure to be as follows:—

A.—INTRODUCTORY.

I. Under these Our Instructions, unless the context otherwise require, the term "Governor-General" shall include every person for the time being acting as Governor-General according to the provisions of the Act.

II. Our Governor-General shall, with all due solemnity, cause Our Commission under Our Royal Sign Manual appointing him to be read and published in the presence of the Chief Justice of India for the time being or, in his absence, other Judge of the Federal Court, and of so many of the members of the Executive Council of Our Governor-General as may conveniently be assembled.

III. Our Governor-General shall take the oath of allegiance and the oath for the due execution of the office of Our Governor-General of India and for the due and impartial administration of justice, in the form hereto appended, which oaths the said Chief Justice or, in his absence, any Judge of the Federal Court, shall, and is hereby required to, tender and administer unto him.

IV. And We do authorise and require Our Governor-General by himself or by any other person to be appointed by him in that behalf to administer to every person appointed by Us or by the Governor-General in Council to be a member of the Governor-General's Executive Council and to every person appointed by him to be a Chief Commissioner the oaths of allegiance and of office and of secrecy hereto appended.

V. And We do further direct that every person who under these Instructions shall be required to take an oath may make an affirmation in place of an oath if he has any objection to making an oath.

VI. The provisions of the last four preceding paragraphs shall not apply to any person holding office at the date of the commencement of Part III of the Act.

B.—IN REGARD TO THE EXECUTIVE AUTHORITY OF THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL.

VII. It is Our will and pleasure that Our Governor-General shall use all endeavour consistent with the fulfilment of his responsibilities to Us and to Our Parliament for the welfare of Our Indian subjects, that the administration of the matters committed to the charge of Our Governor-General in Council may be conducted in harmony with the wishes of Our said subjects as expressed by their representatives in the Indian Legislature so far as the same shall appear to him to be just and reasonable: and shall so order the administration of his government as to further the policy of the Act for its conversion into a Federation of all India.

C.—IN REGARD TO RELATIONS BETWEEN THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL IN COUNCIL AND THE PROVINCES.

VIII. Whereas it is expedient for the common good of British India that the authority of Our Governor-General in Council and of the Indian Legislature in those matters which are by law assigned to them should prevail:

And whereas at the same time it is the purpose of the Act that the Governments and Legislatures of the Provinces should be free in their own sphere to pursue their own policy:

And whereas in the interest of the harmonious co-operation of the several members of the body politic, the Act has empowered Our Governor-General to exercise, at his discretion, certain powers affecting the relations between his Government and the Provinces:

It is Our will and pleasure that Our Governor-General in the exercise of these powers should give unbiased consideration as well to the views of the Governments of the Provinces as to those of his own Government whenever those views are in conflict and, in particular, when it falls to him to exercise his power to issue orders to the Governor of a Province for the purpose of securing that the executive authority of the Governor-General in Council is not impeded or prejudiced, or his power to determine whether Provincial law or Central law shall regulate a matter in the sphere in which both Legislatures have power to make laws.

IX. It is our desire that Our Governor-General shall by all reasonable means encourage consultation with a view to common action between his Government and the Provinces and between the Provinces themselves. It is further Our will and pleasure that Our Governor-General shall endeavour to secure the co-operation of the Provincial Governments in the maintenance of such Central agencies and institutions for research as may serve to assist the conduct by Provincial Governments of their own affairs.

X. In particular We require Our Governor-General before giving his previous sanction to any legislative proposal which it is proposed to introduce in the Indian Legislature for the imposition or variation of taxes or duties by which the revenues of the provincial Governments are or may be directly affected or for varying the meaning of the expression "agricultural income," or for alteration of the principles on which under the provisions of the Act moneys are or may be distributed to the Provinces, to ascertain by the method which appears to him best suited to the circumstances of each case the views of those Governments upon the proposal.

XI. Before granting his previous sanction to the introduction into the Indian Legislature of any Bill or amendment wherein it is proposed to authorise the Governor-General in Council to give directions to a Province as to the carrying into execution in that Province of any Act of the Indian Legislature relating to a matter specified in Part II of the Concurrent Legislative List appended to the Act, it is Our will and pleasure that Our Governor-General shall take care to see that the Governments of the Provinces which would be affected by any such measure have been duly consulted upon the proposal, and upon any other proposals which may be contained in any such measure which involve the imposition of expenditure upon the revenues of the Provinces.

XII. In considering whether he shall give his assent to any Provincial law relating to a matter enumerated in the Concurrent Legislative List, which has been reserved for his consideration on the ground that it contains provisions repugnant to the provisions of an Act of the Indian Legislature, Our Governor-General, while giving full consideration to the proposals of the Provincial Legislature, shall have due regard to the importance of preserving substantially unimpaired the uniformity of law which the Indian Codes have hitherto embodied.

D.—MATTERS AFFECTING THE LEGISLATURE.

XIII. Without prejudice to the generality of his powers as to reservation of Bills, Our Governor-General shall not assent in Our name, to, but shall reserve for the signification of Our pleasure, any Bill of any of the classes herein specified, that is to say:—

(a) any Bill the provisions of which would repeal or be repugnant to the provisions of any Act of Parliament extending to British India;

(b) any Bill which in his opinion would, if it became law, so derogate from the powers of the High Court of any Province as to endanger the position which those Courts are by the Act designed to fill;

(c) any Bill regarding which he feels doubt whether it does, or does not, offend against the purposes of Chapter III, Part V, or section 299 of the Act;

(d) any Bill passed by a Provincial Legislature and reserved for his consideration which would alter the character of the Permanent Settlement.

XIV. It is further Our will and pleasure that in pursuance of the Agreement made between Us and His Exalted Highness the Nizam of Hyderabad as contemplated in Part III of the Act, Our Governor-General in declaring his assent in Our name to any Bill of the Legislature of the Central Provinces and Berar which has been reserved for his consideration, shall declare that his assent to the Bill in its application to Berar has been given by virtue of the Agreement between Us and His Exalted Highness the Nizam.

E.—GENERAL.

XV. And generally Our Governor-General shall do all that in him lies to maintain standards of good administration; to promote all measures making for moral, social and economic welfare and tending to fit all classes of the population to take their due share in public life; and to secure amongst all classes and creeds co-operation, goodwill and mutual respect for religious beliefs and sentiments; and he shall further have regard to this Instruction in the exercise of the powers by law conferred upon him in relation to matters whether of legislation or of executive government.

XVI. And finally it is Our will and pleasure that Our Governor-General should so exercise the trust reposed in him that the partnership between India and the United Kingdom within Our Empire may be furthered, to the end that India may attain its due place among our Dominions.

XVII. And We do hereby charge Our Governor-General to communicate these Our Instructions to the Members of his Executive Council and to publish the same in such manner as he may think fit.

APPENDIX.

FORM OF OATH OF ALLEGIANCE.

I, , do swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to His Majesty, King George the Sixth, Emperor of India, His Heirs and Successors, according to Law.

So help me God.

FORM OF OATH OF OFFICE.

I, , do swear that I will well and truly serve Our Sovereign, King George the Sixth, Emperor of India, in the Office of , and that I will do right to all manner of people after the laws and usages of India, without fear or favour, affection or ill-will.

So help me God.

FORM OF OATH OF SECRECY FOR EXECUTIVE COUNCILLORS.

I, , do swear that I will not directly or indirectly communicate or reveal to any person or persons any matter which shall be brought under my consideration, or shall become known to me as a member of the Governor-General's Executive Council, except as may be required for the due discharge of my duties as such member, or as may be specially permitted by the Governor-General.

So help me God.

5.—(1) This Order shall come into force on separation.

(2) As respects the period between separation and the establishment of the Federation of India, references in this Order to the Governor-General shall be deemed to be references to the Governor-General in Council.

PART II.

Provisions to have effect as part of the Law of Burma.

General.

1. The provisions of this Part of this Order shall have effect as part of the law of Burma.

2. The Bank shall manage the currency of Burma and continue to carry on the business of banking in Burma, subject to the provisions of this Part of this Order.

3.—(1) Until the Governor of Burma otherwise determines, the standard monetary unit of Burma shall be the Indian rupee.

(2) If the standard monetary unit of Burma ceases to be the Indian rupee, any provisions of this Part of this Order which refer to values stated in terms of rupees shall have effect subject to such consequential adaptations as may be prescribed by Act of the Legislature.

Provisions as to Government Money, etc.

4.—(1) The Bank shall accept moneys for account of the Government of Burma, make payments up to the amount standing to the credit of its account, carry out its exchange, remittance and other banking operations, including the management of the Public Debt, and generally afford to it similar facilities to those which the Bank affords to the Governor-General.

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall prevent the Government of Burma from carrying on money transactions at places where the Bank has no branch or agency and from holding at those places such balances as it may require.

(3) The Government of Burma shall entrust the Bank with the management of the Public Debt of Burma and with the issue of any new loans.

(4) The conditions on which the Bank shall perform the functions mentioned in this paragraph shall be the same as those regulating similar transactions between the Governor-General and the Bank, subject, however, to such adaptations and modifications as may be agreed upon between the Government of Burma and the Bank or as may, in default of agreement, be prescribed by the Governor of Burma.

Particulars of any such adaptations or modifications shall be laid as soon as may be before both Chambers of the Legislature.

(5) The provisions of this paragraph apply with any necessary modifications in relation to the Federal Fund of the Federated Shan States:

Provided that the adaptations and modifications to be agreed or prescribed under sub-paragraph (4) of this paragraph shall be separately agreed or prescribed in relation to the Federal Fund and there shall be no necessity for particulars of those adaptations or modifications to be laid before either Chamber of the Legislature.

5. The Bank shall not refuse to accept the moneys, and undertake the functions, which the Railway Board is by the Burma Act required to entrust to it.

6.—(1) The Bank shall as soon as may be after separation issue bank notes of distinctive design, to be known as "Burma bank notes".

(2) Burma bank notes shall be expressed in terms of the standard monetary unit of Burma and shall be of such denominational values as the Governor of Burma may determine after consultation with the Central Board.

(3) The design, form and material of Burma bank notes shall be such as may be prescribed by the Governor of Burma after consultation with the Central Board.

(4) During the period of twelve months immediately following separation the Bank may, in lieu of issuing Burma bank notes, or Burma bank notes of any particular denomination, issue currency notes of the Government of India overprinted with the words "Legal tender in Burma only":

Provided that the said period may from time to time be extended, either generally or in relation to notes of particular denominations, by the Governor of Burma after consultation with the Central Board.

7.—(1) Burma notes shall be legal tender in Burma:

Provided that on the recommendation of the Central Board the Governor of Burma may by notification in the Gazette of Burma declare that with effect from such date as may be specified in the notification any series of Burma notes of any denomination shall cease to be legal tender save at an office or agency of the Bank.

(2) India notes shall continue to be legal tender in Burma for such period or periods not being less than two years from separation, as the Governor of Burma may determine, or for such shorter period or periods as may be agreed between the Governor of Burma and the Bank, and thereafter such notes shall continue to be accepted at par at such places and for such further period or periods as may be determined by the Governor of Burma after consultation with the Bank:

(3) The Bank shall not re-issue Burma notes which are torn, defaced or excessively soiled.

8.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any enactment or rule of law to the contrary, no person shall of right be entitled to recover from the Bank or the Government of Burma the value of any lost, stolen, mutilated or imperfect India note or Burma note.

(2) The Bank may with the previous sanction of the Governor of Burma prescribe the circumstances in which, and the conditions and limitations subject to which, the value of lost, stolen, mutilated or imperfect Burma notes may be refunded as of grace and the rules made under this sub-paragraph shall be laid on the table of both Houses of the Legislature.

(3) The value of lost, stolen, mutilated or imperfect India notes may be refunded as of grace in Burma in the circumstances and subject to the conditions and limitations prescribed for the time being in that behalf as respects British India under section twenty-eight of the Reserve Bank Act.

9.—(1) The Bank shall have the sole right to issue bank notes in Burma and the Government of Burma shall not issue any currency notes.

(2) No person in Burma other than the Bank shall draw, accept, make or issue any bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note or engagement for the payment of money payable to bearer on demand, or borrow, owe or take up any sum or sums of money, on the bills, hundis, or notes payable to bearer on demand of any such person:

Provided that cheques or drafts, including hundis, payable to bearer on demand or otherwise may be drawn on a person's account with a banker, shroff, or agent.

(3) Any person contravening the provisions of the last preceding sub-paragraph shall be punishable with fine which may extend to the amount of the bill, hundi, note or engagement in respect whereof the offence is committed; but no prosecution under this sub-paragraph shall be instituted except on complaint made by the Bank.

Coinage.

10. (1) India rupee coin and India subsidiary coin shall continue to be legal tender in Burma to the like extent and subject to the same conditions as immediately before separation for such period or periods, not expiring, in the case of any class of coins, sooner than two years from the introduction of corresponding Burma coins, as the Governor of Burma may determine, or for such shorter period or periods as may be agreed between the Governor of Burma and the Bank, and thereafter shall continue to be accepted at par at such places and for such further period or periods as may be specified by the Governor of Burma after consultation with the Bank:

Provided that India rupee coin shall not cease to be legal tender in Burma as aforesaid so long as under the provisions of this Part of this Order the Bank is bound to issue such coin on demand in Burma in exchange for legal tender notes.

(2) No Burma coins shall be issued except in pursuance of an Act of the Legislature, and so long as under the provisions of this Part of this Order the Bank is bound to issue India rupee coin on demand in Burma in exchange for legal tender notes, no Burma coins shall be issued of the same value as, or of greater value than, the India rupee.

(3) Any Burma coins issued shall on demand be supplied by the Governor of Burma to the Bank against payment of their nominal value in such quantities as will, in the opinion of the Bank, be required for circulation in Burma, and the Governor of Burma shall not put any coins into circulation in Burma except through the Bank in pursuance of a demand made under this sub-paragraph.

The Bank may deliver to the Governor of Burma any Burma coins which will not in its opinion be required for circulation in Burma against payment of their nominal value, and no Burma coins shall be disposed of by the Bank otherwise than for the purposes of circulation or by delivery to the Governor of Burma under this sub-paragraph.

(4) It shall be the duty of the Governor of Burma to send as soon as may be to the Governor-General notice of any proposal to introduce any Burma coins.

11. (1) Until the Governor of Burma otherwise determines, the Bank shall on demand issue India rupee coin in exchange for legal tender notes.

(2) The Bank shall on demand issue legal tender notes in exchange for legal tender coins.

(3) The Bank shall in exchange for legal tender notes of five rupees or upwards supply legal tender notes of lower value or legal tender coins in such quantities as may in the opinion of the Bank be required for circulation.

(4) If the Governor-General or, as the case may be, the Governor of Burma, at any time fails to supply coins to the Bank, the Bank shall be released from its obligations under this paragraph to supply such coins to the public.

12. Gold coins, coined at His Majesty's Royal Mint in England or at any mints established in pursuance of a proclamation of His Majesty as a branch of His Majesty's Royal Mint, shall not be legal tender in Burma, but such coins shall be received by the Bank at its offices, branches and agencies in Burma at the bullion value of such coins calculated at the rate of 8·47512 grains troy of fine gold per rupee.

13. The Indian Coinage Act, 1906, shall, until other provision is made by the Act of the Legislature, have effect in Burma subject to the adaptations and modifications specified in Part I of the First Schedule to this Order and the enactments specified in Part II of that Schedule shall cease to have effect as part of the law of Burma:

Provided that nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as affecting the operation of any provision of this Part of this Order relating to the extent to which and the conditions subject to which India coins are to be legal tender in Burma.

Duties of Bank as to Exchange.

14. (1) The Bank shall sell to any person who makes a demand in that behalf at its office in Rangoon, and pays the purchase price in legal tender currency, sterling for immediate delivery in London at a rate not below one shilling and five pence and forty-nine sixty-fourths of a penny for a rupee:

Provided that no person shall be entitled to demand to buy an amount of sterling less than ten thousand pounds.

(2) The Bank shall buy from any person who makes a demand in that behalf at its office in Rangoon sterling for immediate delivery in London at a rate not higher than one shilling and six pence and three-sixteenths of a penny for a rupee:

Provided that—

(a) no person shall be entitled to demand to sell an amount of sterling less than ten thousand pounds;

(b) no person shall be entitled to receive payment unless the Bank is satisfied that payment of the sterling has been made in London.

(3) The Bank shall provide any person who makes a demand in that behalf with remittance between its office in Rangoon and such office or offices in India as may be prescribed by the Central Board, in such amounts, at such fixed rate of exchange and subject only to such rate or rates of commission, as may be approved by the Governor-General and the Governor of Burma:

Provided that so long as the Bank is bound under this Part of this Order to issue on demand India rupee coin in exchange for legal tender notes, the rate of exchange shall be par.

Control of Scheduled Banks, etc.

15. (1) Every Burma scheduled bank as defined in this paragraph shall maintain with the Bank a balance, the amount of which shall not at the close of business on any day be less than five per cent. of the demand liabilities, and two per cent. of the time liabilities, of that bank in Burma as shown in the latest return made under sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph.

For the purpose of this paragraph the liabilities of a Burma scheduled bank do not include its paid-up capital or reserves or any credit balance in its profit and loss account or the amount of any loan taken by it from the Bank.

(2) Every Burma scheduled bank shall send to the Bank a return signed by two responsible officers of the scheduled bank showing—

(a) the amounts of its demand and time liabilities respectively in Burma,

(b) the total amount held in Burma in India notes and Burma notes respectively,

(c) the amounts held in Burma in India rupee coin, India subsidiary coin and Burma coin respectively,

(d) the amounts of advances made and of bills discounted in Burma respectively, and

(e) the balance held at the Bank,

at the close of business on each Friday, or where a Friday is a public holiday under the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, at the close of business on the preceding working day, and the return shall be sent not later than two working days after the date to which it relates:

Provided that where the Bank is satisfied that the furnishing of a weekly return under this sub-paragraph is impracticable in the case of any Burma scheduled bank by reason of the geographical position of that bank and its branches, the Bank may require that bank to furnish, in lieu of a weekly return, a monthly return to be dispatched not later than fourteen days after the end of the month to which it relates, giving the details specified in this sub-paragraph in respect of that bank at the close of business for the month.

(3) If at the close of business on any day before the day fixed for the next return the balance held at the Bank by any Burma scheduled bank is below the minimum prescribed in sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph, that bank shall be liable to pay to the Bank in respect of each such day penal interest at the rate of three per cent. above the bank rate on the amount by which the balance with the Bank falls short of the prescribed minimum, and if on the day fixed for the next return the balance is still below the prescribed minimum as disclosed by this return, the rate of penal interest shall be increased to a rate five per cent. above the bank rate, in respect of that day and each subsequent day on which the balance held at the Bank at the close of business on that day is below the prescribed minimum.

(4) Any Burma scheduled bank failing to comply with the provisions of sub-paragraph (2) of this paragraph shall be liable to pay to the Bank a penalty of one hundred rupees for each day during which the failure continues.

(5) The penalties imposed by sub-paragraphs (3) and (4) of this paragraph shall be payable on demand made by the Bank and, in the event of a refusal by the defaulting bank to pay on such a demand, may be levied by a direction of the High Court; but such a direction shall be given only upon application made in that behalf to the Court by the Bank with the previous sanction of the Governor of Burma.

(6) In this paragraph "Burma scheduled bank" means a bank for the time being included in the Second Schedule to this Order; and the Governor of Burma shall, by notification in the Gazette of Burma, direct the inclusion in the said Schedule of any bank not already included therein which carries on the business of banking in Burma, and which—

(a) has a paid-up capital and reserves of an aggregate value of not less than five lakhs of rupees, and

(b) is a company as defined by section two of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or a corporation or a company incorporated by or under any law in force in any place outside Burma, and shall by a like notification direct the exclusion from the said Schedule of any Burma scheduled bank, the aggregate value of whose paid-up capital and reserves becomes at any time less than five lakhs of rupees, or which goes into liquidation or otherwise ceases to carry on banking business:

Provided that no bank shall be included in the said Schedule if it is a scheduled bank within the meaning of the Reserve Bank Act.

(7) The Governor of Burma may at any time by notification in the Gazette of Burma amend the Second Schedule to this Order for the purpose of correcting any misdescription of any bank.

16. (1) The Bank may require any Burma co-operative bank with which it has transactions under section seventeen of the Reserve Bank Act to furnish such returns as are referred to in sub-paragraph (2) of the last preceding paragraph, and while such a requirement is in force the provisions of sub-paragraphs (4) and (5) of that paragraph shall apply so far as may be to that co-operative bank as if it were a Burma scheduled bank.

(2) In this Part of this Order "Burma co-operative bank" means—

(a) the principal society in Burma which is registered or deemed to be registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, and of which the primary object is the financing of the other societies in Burma which are or are deemed to be so registered;

(b) any other central co-operative society declared for the time being by the Governor of Burma to be a Burma co-operative bank for the purposes of this Part of this Order.

Miscellaneous.

17.—(1) The Bank shall not be liable for the payment of any stamp duty in Burma in respect of Burma notes or India notes.

(2) The Bank shall not be liable to pay Burman income-tax or super-tax on any of its income, profits or gains:

Provided that nothing in this sub-paragraph shall affect the liability of any shareholder in respect of Burman income-tax or super-tax.

(3) For the purposes of any provisions of the Indian Income-tax Act, 1922, as in force in Burma, which relate to the levy and refund of income-tax, any dividends paid under section forty-seven of the Reserve Bank Act shall be deemed to be "interest on securities".

18.—(1) The Reserve Bank Act shall cease to be part of the law of Burma, and the status of the Bank shall be that of a corporation existing only by virtue of the law of British India and capable of suing and being sued as such in Burma; and accordingly effect shall be given to the said Act by courts in Burma only in so far as, under the rules and principles of law determining the cases in which law other than Burma law is to be applied in Burma, the proper law to be applied is the law of India.

(2) Nothing in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, shall apply to the Bank.

(3) Nothing in this paragraph shall—

(a) revive in Burma the enactments repealed by the Reserve Bank Act;

(b) affect, as respects Burma, the amendment made in section eleven of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, by section sixty-one of the Reserve Bank Act.

19.—(1) If any person in Burma makes a false statement in any declaration furnished by him in pursuance of a requisition under sub-section (1) of section fifty-six of the Reserve Bank Act, he shall be deemed in Burma to have committed the offence of giving false evidence defined in section one hundred and ninety-one of the Indian Penal Code and shall be punishable under the second paragraph of section one hundred and ninety-three of that Code.

(2) Nothing contained in any declaration furnished under the said sub-section (1) shall operate to affect the Bank with notice of any trust, and no notice of any trust expressed, implied or constructive shall be receivable by the Bank.

20. References in this Part of this Order to the Central Board shall, in the event of the supersession of that Board under section thirty of the Reserve Bank Act, be construed as references to the agency to which the general superintendence and direction of the affairs of the Bank are entrusted under that section.

21.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this paragraph, this Part of this Order shall cease to have effect on the expiration of two years from the date on which a notice determining the operation thereof is given to the Governor-General by the Governor of Burma or to the Governor of Burma by the Governor-General, so, however, that no such notice shall be given before the thirty-first day of March, nineteen hundred and thirty-eight:

Provided that, if in the opinion of the Governor of Burma the Bank fails to fulfil any of the obligations imposed upon it by this Part of this Order, or if the Reserve Bank Act is amended in any manner which in the opinion of the Governor of Burma is seriously prejudicial to the interests of Burma, the Governor may give notice to the Governor-General determining the operation of this Part of this Order at any time, and that notice shall take effect on such date as may be specified therein.

(2) The expiration of this Part of this Order shall not revive any enactment which has ceased to be in force as part of the law of Burma and shall not affect the provisions of this Part of this Order declaring that the status of the Bank is to be that of a corporation existing by virtue of the law of British India and declaring the extent to which effect is to be given by courts in Burma to the Reserve Bank Act.

PART III.

Provisions to have effect as part of the Law of British India.

1. Until other provision is made by any Act of the Indian Legislature or the Federal Legislature, the Reserve Bank Act shall have effect in British India subject to the adaptations and modifications specified in the Third Schedule to this Order.

2. While Part II of this Order remains in force, it shall be the duty of the Governor-General to send as soon as may be to the Governor of Burma notice of any proposal to introduce, or move an amendment to, a Bill in the Indian Legislature or the Federal Legislature which affects the coinage or currency of British India or the Federation or the constitution or functions of the Bank.

PART IV.

Adjustments between Governments, etc., and other Miscellaneous Provisions.

Interpretation of Part IV.

1.—(1) In this Part of this Order, unless the context otherwise requires—

"note ratio fraction" for a specified period means the fraction of which the denominator is the average amount of the India notes and Burma notes shown as being in circulation in the weekly accounts of the Bank relating to dates falling within that period, and the numerator is the average amount of the Burma notes shown as being in circulation by those accounts;

"the appropriate fraction" means, in relation to the transitional period, the note ratio fraction for the last year of that period and, in relation to any subsequent financial year, the note ratio fraction for that year;

"Governor-General's bank profits" in relation to any period means the sum of—

(a) any amounts paid in that period to the Governor-General by the Bank under section forty-seven, or sub-section (2) of section thirty-seven, of the Reserve Bank Act, and by the Issue Department under sub-section (2) of section thirty-four of that Act, and

(b) any other profits accruing in that period to the Governor-General by reason of any revaluation of the gold held by the Bank, less any amount debited to the Governor-General in that period under sub-section (2) of the said section thirty-four;

"silver proceeds" and "silver deficiency" in relation to any period mean the amount by which the net receipts of the Governor-General for that period from sales of silver exceed or, as the case may be, fall short of the sums expended by him for that period on purchases of silver, and for the purposes of this definition any transfer of India rupee coin under section thirty-six of the Reserve Bank Act shall be deemed to be a purchase or sale, as the case may be;

"gold" and "silver" mean respectively gold coin and gold bullion and silver coin and silver bullion;

"the Burma debt to India" means any liabilities imposed on the revenues of Burma under section one hundred and thirty-four of the Burma Act;

"the transitional period" means the first three financial years after separation:

Provided that if it appears to the Governor of Burma at the end of the said three years that India notes are still returning from circulation in Burma to a considerable extent, the Governor of Burma may, within one month after the end of the said three years, give notice to the Governor-General that the transitional period is to continue and it shall continue accordingly until the end of the financial year in which in the opinion of the Governor of Burma the amount of India notes returning from circulation in Burma has become negligible.

(2) If, during the transitional period or during a financial year, either of the following events occurs, that is to say—

(a) Part II of this Order expires, or

(b) Burma coins intended to supersede India rupee coin in Burma are put into circulation, then, for the purposes of any provision of this Order relating to, or coming into effect on the expiration of, a period which ceases on the happening of that event, any reference in this Part of this Order to the transitional period or to that year shall be construed as a reference to so much thereof as precedes the happening of the event.

(3) For the purpose of computing the silver proceeds or the silver deficiency for any period, the Governor-General shall, in respect of any silver sold by him in India, be taken to have received either—

(a) the rupee equivalent at the rate of exchange of the day of the London price of silver at the time when the contract was made, after deducting any brokerage and other charges or rebates actually incurred by the Governor-General in effecting the sale, or

(b) the actual sum received by him after deduction of any such brokerage and other charges or rebates and of any import duty on silver in force at the time when the contract was made, whichever is the greater.

References in this sub-paragraph to the date when the contract was made shall, in relation to rupee coin delivered to the Bank under sub-section (2) of section thirty-six of the Reserve Bank Act, be construed as references to the date of the delivery of the coin.

Division of Governor-General's Bank Profits during the currency of Part II.

2.—(1) This paragraph shall have effect in relation to the period during which Part II of this Order is in force.

(2) At the end of the transitional period and of each subsequent financial year there shall be paid by the Governor-General to the Government of Burma the appropriate fraction of the Governor-General's bank profits for that period, or, as the case may be, that year.

(3) During the transitional period, the Governor-General shall pay to the Government of Burma the following sums on account—

(a) at the end of the first year, a sum ascertained by applying to the Governor-General's bank profits for that year the note ratio fraction for the last month thereof;

(b) at the end of the second year, such sum as will, with the previous payment on account, amount to a sum ascertained by applying to the Governor-General's bank profits for the first two years the note ratio fraction for the last month of the second year, and so on at the end of each year except the last year.

(4) Notwithstanding anything in this paragraph, so much of any sums payable to the Government of Burma thereunder as is ascribable to dealings by the Bank in gold or the revaluation of the Bank's holding of gold shall in lieu of being paid to the Government of Burma be credited as a capital payment in reduction of the Burma debt to India; and if in any financial year subsequent to the transitional period the proportion of the Governor-General's bank profits which is ascribable to dealings by the Bank in gold or the revaluation of the Bank's holding of gold is, in the opinion of the Governor-General or the Governor of Burma, exceptionally large, the Governor-General or the Governor, as the case may be, may, within one month after the end of the year, require that the amount to be credited under this sub-paragraph at the end of that year shall be computed by applying to the Governor-General's bank profits for that year the note ratio fraction for such period as may be agreed by the Governor-General and the Governor of Burma, or as may, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration.

Division of Silver Proceeds and Silver Deficiencies pending the supersession of India rupee coin in Burma.

3.—(1) This paragraph shall have effect in relation to the period beginning on separation and ending on the expiration of Part II of this Order or on the putting into circulation of Burma coins which are intended to supersede India rupee coin in Burma, whichever first occurs.

(2) At the end of the transitional period and of each subsequent financial year there shall be credited as a capital payment in reduction of the Burma debt to India an amount equal to the appropriate fraction of the silver proceeds for that period or, as the case may be, that year.

(3) During the transitional period there shall be credited as capital payments in reduction of the said debt the following sums on account of the reduction provided for by the last preceding sub-paragraph—

(a) at the end of the first year, a sum ascertained by applying to the silver proceeds for that year the note ratio fraction for the last month thereof;

(b) at the end of the second year, such sum as will with the sum previously credited on account amount to a sum to be ascertained by applying to the silver proceeds for the first two years the note ratio fraction for the last month of the second year, and so on at the end of each year except the last year.

(4) If in any financial year subsequent to the transitional period the silver proceeds are, in the opinion of the Governor-General or the Governor of Burma, exceptionally large, the Governor-General or the Governor, as the case may be, may, within one month after the end of the year, require that the amount to be credited under this paragraph at the end of that year shall be computed by applying to the silver proceeds for that year the note ratio fraction for such period as may be agreed by the Governor-General and the Governor of Burma or as may, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration.

(5) If there is a silver deficiency for the transitional period or for any year or years comprised therein or for any year subsequent thereto, the foregoing provisions of this paragraph shall apply in relation to that deficiency as they apply in relation to silver proceeds, except that a debit on capital account shall be made to the Government of Burma in relation to the Burma debt to India instead of a credit, and that, if the deficiency is for the transitional period or for any year or years comprised therein, the provisions of sub-paragraph (3) of this paragraph shall have effect with such other adaptations as are necessary to secure that, in computing the credits and debits made during and at the end of the transitional period, due account is taken of the credits and debits previously made during that period.

Division of the Profit and Loss on the circulation of Nickel and Bronze Coins pending the supersession of India nickel and bronze coins in Burma.

4.—(1) This paragraph shall have effect in relation to the period beginning on separation and ending on the expiration of Part II of this Order or on the putting into circulation of Burma coins which are intended to supersede the India nickel and bronze coins in Burma, whichever first occurs.

(2) At the end of each financial year there shall be paid by the Governor-General to the Government of Burma the profit, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, on the net amount of the India nickel and bronze coins which are actually passed into circulation in Burma during that year, less the loss, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, on the destruction of any India nickel and bronze coins returned from Burma to the Indian Mints in that year and destroyed as not being fit for re-issue.

(3) If in any financial year the amount of India nickel and bronze coins returning from circulation in Burma exceeds the amount of India nickel and bronze coins actually passed into circulation in Burma in that year, the Government of Burma shall pay to the Governor-General the loss attributable to that fact, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, together with the loss, as calculated by the Auditor-General of India, on the destruction of any India nickel and bronze coins returned from Burma to the Indian Mints in that year and destroyed as not being fit for re-issue.

Division of Silver Stocks on the supersession of India rupee coin in Burma.

5. On the expiration of the period in relation to which paragraph three of this Part of this Order has effect, the Governor-General shall transfer to the Government of Burma a proportion of his stocks of silver to be determined by applying thereto either—

(a) if the transitional period was still current on the day before this paragraph takes effect, the appropriate fraction for the transitional period; or

(b) in any other case, the appropriate fraction for the financial year current on that day:

Provided that if within one month after that day, either the Governor-General or the Governor of Burma so requires, the fraction to be applied shall be the note ratio fraction for such period as may be agreed between the Governor-General and the Governor of Burma or as may, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration.

Disposal of Retired India Coins, and Burma's Share of the Silver Stocks.

6.—(1) Any India coins retired from Burma (whether from circulation, from the Bank's balances, from Treasury balances or from small coin depots) by reason of the introduction of corresponding Burma coins shall be disposed of as follows—

(a) if and so far as the Governor of Burma so desires and the Mints in India are able to undertake the work, they shall be recoined with Burma designs at the Mints in India free of charge, except that any additional expense arising from a material alteration in the numbers and composition of the coins shall be defrayed by the Government of Burma;

(b) any India subsidiary coin not so recoined shall be delivered to the Governor-General against payment to the Government of Burma of its bullion value increased by an amount representing the cost to India of coining the same amount of coin in the same form;

(c) any India rupee coin not so recoined shall not be disposed of as coin, but the silver content thereof shall be disposed of in such manner as the Governor of Burma may think fit:

Provided that the Governor shall not dispose by sale of any such silver before the first day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-eight, otherwise than in accordance with an agreement to be concluded with the Governor-General which shall, among other things, determine, by reference to the respective stocks of silver held by the parties to the agreement, the maximum amounts to be sold by them respectively in any year.

(2) Sub-paragraph (1) of this paragraph shall apply in relation to India rupee coin transferred to the Government of Burma under the last preceding paragraph as it applies to retired India rupee coin, and shall apply in relation to silver bullion so transferred as it applies in relation to retired India rupee coin which is not recoined in India thereunder.

Division of Assets and Liabilities on expiration of Part II.

7.—(1) On the expiration of Part II of this Order, the provisions of this paragraph shall take effect except so far as may be otherwise agreed between the Governor-General and the Governor of Burma, or, as the case may be, between the Governor of Burma and the Bank.

(2) The Bank shall be absolved from all liability in respect of Burma notes and the revenues of Burma shall be liable in respect thereof, and any guarantee thereof of the Government of India shall be deemed to be a guarantee of the Government of Burma; and there shall be transferred from the Issue Department of the Bank to the Government of Burma assets which, as valued for the purposes of the Reserve Bank Act, have together a value equal to the total liability in respect of the Burma notes outstanding on the expiration of the said Part II other than any notes which are deemed for the purposes of this sub-paragraph to have gone out of circulation.

For the purposes of this and the next succeeding sub-paragraph a note shall be deemed to have gone out of circulation if and only if on the expiration of the said Part II forty years or more have elapsed since the end of the financial year in which it was issued.

(3) India notes which were immediately before the expiration of Part II of this Order legal tender in Burma or in respect of which legal rights of encashment in Burma existed immediately before that date shall be accepted by the Governor of Burma at par at such places and for such period or periods as may be specified by the Governor of Burma after consultation with the Bank; and there shall from time to time on the demand of the Governor of Burma be transferred from the Issue Department of the Bank to the Government of Burma assets which, as valued for the purposes of the Reserve Bank Act, have together a value equal to the amount of the notes accepted by the Governor of Burma under this sub-paragraph, other than notes which are deemed for the purposes of this sub-paragraph to have gone out of circulation.

(4) Any assets transferred under this paragraph shall include gold, sterling securities, India rupee coin and rupee securities in the proportions in which assets of those classes respectively were, immediately before the expiration of Part II of this Order, held by the Issue Department of the Bank:

Provided that unless the Governor of Burma otherwise agrees—

(a) the securities so transferred shall not include any trade bills originating in India;

(b) the total amount of rupee trade bills and the total amount of sterling trade bills transferred shall not bear to the total amount of the securities transferred a greater proportion than the total amount of the rupee trade bills, or, as the case may be, the sterling trade bills held immediately before the expiration of the said Part II in the Issue Department bears to the total amount of the securities then held therein.

In this paragraph "securities" includes trade bills, and "rupee securities" and "rupee trade bills" include respectively securities and trade bills expressed in the standard monetary unit of Burma, whether or not that unit is still the Indian rupee.

(5) Any India rupee coin transferred under the foregoing provisions of this paragraph shall be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding paragraph as if it were retired rupee coin.

(6) If and in so far as distinctive Burma coins have not previously been introduced, they shall forthwith be introduced and all India coins shall, as soon as may be, be retired from Burma and disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the last preceding paragraph:

Provided that India coins shall continue to be accepted at par at such places in Burma and for any such further period or periods as may be specified by the Governor of Burma.

(7) The Governor of Burma shall, if the Bank so desires, take over from the Bank all or any of the property held by the Bank in Burma for the purpose of carrying on its business, against payment of the value of that property as shown in the books of the Bank if Part II of this Order expires at or before the expiration of three years from separation, or, if the said Part II expires at a later date, on such terms as may be agreed with the Bank, or, in default of agreement, decided by arbitration.

(8) If the agreement made between the Bank and the Imperial Bank in pursuance of section forty-five of the Reserve Bank Act is still in force, the Governor of Burma and the Bank shall enter into separate agreements with the Imperial Bank which shall be in substitution for the said agreement but without prejudice to rights acquired or liabilities incurred prior thereto

The agreements so to be made shall be such as together to secure as nearly as may be that the Imperial Bank continues to act in relation to Government business and currency operations in India and Burma in the like manner, for the like period and on not less favourable conditions as if Part II of this Order had not expired, and if the Governor of Burma, the Bank and the Imperial Bank are not able to agree upon the terms of the said agreements, the terms thereof shall be such as may be decided by arbitration:

Provided that the agreement so to be made between the Governor of Burma and the Imperial Bank shall be such as to secure that if in the opinion of the Governor of Burma the Imperial Bank has failed either to fulfil its duties which it owes to the Governor of Burma in relation to the conduct of Government business and currency operations in Burma or to maintain a sound financial position, the Governor may issue instructions to the Imperial Bank with reference either to the rights acquired by the Governor under the agreement or to any matter which in the opinion of the Governor involves the security of the Government moneys in the custody of the Imperial Bank, and in the event of the Imperial Bank disregarding those instructions may terminate the relationship between him and the Imperial Bank.

(9) There shall be credited as a capital payment in reduction of the Burma debt to India an amount calculated as follows—

(a) the surplus assets of the Bank (including the Reserve Fund) shall be valued as on the day immediately preceding the expiration of Part II of this Order;

(b) there shall be deducted from the value as so ascertained the sums payable in respect of the financial year current on that day to the Governor-General and the shareholders of the Bank;

(c) the amount to be credited shall be ascertained by applying to the difference either—

(i) if the transitional period was still current on the day immediately preceding the expiration of Part II of this Order, the appropriate fraction for the transitional period, or

(ii) in any other case, the appropriate fraction for the financial year current on that day:

Provided that if within one month after that day either the Governor-General or the Governor of Burma so requires, the fraction to be applied to the said difference shall be the note ratio fraction for such period as may be agreed between the Governor-General and the Governor, or as may, in default of agreement, be determined by arbitration.

Provisions as to Agreements and Arbitrations.

8. The Governor-General, the Governor of Burma and the Reserve Bank may, as respects the rights and liabilities conferred and imposed on them respectively by the preceding provisions of this Part of this Order, agree on the substitution for any of the said provisions of such other provisions as may be specified in the agreement; and if in the opinion of the Governor-General or the Governor of Burma unforeseen developments have rendered any of the said provisions inequitable the Governor-General or, as the case may be, the Governor, may, in default of such agreement as aforesaid, require the question whether, and if so what, provisions should be substituted for the provisions aforesaid to be referred to arbitration, and in the event of any such arbitration effect shall be given to the award of the arbitrator accordingly.

9. Any dispute arising under this Part of this Order between the Governor-General and the Governor of Burma shall be decided by arbitration.

10.—(1) Any matter which under this Part of this Order is to be decided by arbitration shall be referred to and decided by such person as may be agreed upon by the parties to the dispute or as may, in default of agreement, be appointed by the Secretary of State.

(2) The Arbitration Act, 1889, shall not apply to any such arbitration.

Miscellaneous.

11. The agreement made in pursuance of section forty-five of the Reserve Bank Act between the Bank and the Imperial Bank of India shall have effect subject to the following adaptations—

(a) references to India and British India shall be construed as including references to Burma and British Burma;

(b) references to the Governor-General in Council in relation to his general banking business, his accounts, and sums due to or from him, and references to Government in relation to receipts and disbursements dealt with on account of Government shall be construed as including references to the Governor of Burma (both in his dealings with the revenues of Burma and in his dealings with the Federal Fund of the Federated Shan States) and the Burma Railway Board;

(c) references to banks included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank Act shall be construed as including references to Burma scheduled banks.

THE INDIA AND BURMA (TRANSITORY PROVISIONS) ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

The 18th day of March, 1937.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

Whereas by section three hundred and ten of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in this Order referred to as "the India Act"), His Majesty in Council is empowered, for the purpose of facilitating the transition from the provisions of the Government of India Act to the provisions of that Act, to direct that the India Act shall, during a limited period, have effect subject to adaptations and modifications, to make with respect to a limited period temporary provision for ensuring that during and after the transition there are available to all Governments in India sufficient revenues to enable the business of those Governments to be carried on, and to make other temporary provisions for the purpose of removing any difficulties arising in relation to the transition.

And whereas it is provided by paragraph two of the Third Schedule to the India Act that such provision shall be made for enabling the Governors of Provinces to discharge conveniently and with dignity the duties of their offices as may be determined by His Majesty in Council:

And whereas by subsection (2) of section three hundred and nine of the India Act His Majesty in Council is empowered to revoke or vary any Order in Council previously made under that Act:

And whereas by section one hundred and fifty-six of the Government of Burma Act, 1935 (hereafter in this Order referred to as "the Burma Act"), His Majesty in Council is empowered, for the purpose of facilitating the transition from the provisions of the Government of India Act to the provisions of the Burma Act, to make temporary provision for the purpose of removing any difficulties arising in relation to the said transition:

And whereas a draft of this Order was laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of subsection (1) of section three hundred and nine of the India Act, and subsection (1) of section one hundred and fifty-seven of the Burma Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an order may be made in the terms of this Order:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased, by and with the advice of His Privy Council, to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows:—

Introductory.

1. This Order may be cited as the India and Burma (Transitory Provisions) Order, 1937.

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this Order as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

Provisions applicable only to India.

3. (1) For a period of two years from the commencement of Part III of the India Act, the provisions of subsection (2) of section one hundred and forty-three of that Act (which authorises the continuance, until provision to the contrary is made by the Federal Legislature, of certain provincial taxes falling within the Federal List) shall have effect as if the reference to the first of January nineteen hundred and thirty-five were a reference to the commencement of the said Part III.

(2) Nothing in this paragraph shall continue any taxation beyond the time for which it would continue if the India Act had not been passed.

4. In every Province notwithstanding anything contained in the India Act or in any Order in Council made thereunder, but subject to any provision to the contrary which may be made by an Act of the Indian, the Federal or the Provincial Legislature passed in the exercise of the powers respectively conferred on them by the India Act—

(a) any tax, fine, penalty or other sum of whatever nature required by or under any law as in force immediately before the commencement of Part III of the India Act to be credited to any local fund or other fund shall, during the two financial years next following the commencement of the said Part III, continue to be so credited and shall not, during those years, be deemed to be part of the revenues of the Province;

(b) any expenditure from provincial revenues, the amount of which is prescribed by or under any law as in force immediately before the commencement of the said Part III, shall, in the said two financial years, be deemed to be expenditure charged on the revenues of the Province.

5. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that so much of the Road Development Fund, and so much of the Fund for the Economic Development and Improvement of Rural Areas, as remain in the hands of the Governor-General in Council immediately before the commencement of Part III of the India Act, will, notwithstanding anything in section one hundred and seventy-three of that Act, continue to be held by him for the same purposes as theretofore.

6. (1) In the case of Orissa and Sind there shall be charged on the revenues of the Province, in addition to the amounts directed to be charged thereon by the Government of India (Governors' Allowances and Privileges) Order, 1936, such sums as the Governor, exercising his individual judgment, may deem it necessary to expend in the provision and furnishing of his official residences; and the Governor shall exercise his individual judgment as respects any question arising in connection with the provision and furnishing of the said residences.

(2) In this paragraph "official residences" has the same meaning as in the Government of India (Governors' Allowances and Privileges) Order, 1936, and "provision," in relation to an official residence includes the reconstruction or improvement of a residence existing at the commencement of Part III of the India Act.

(3) This paragraph shall cease to have effect on the expiration of three years from the commencement of Part III of the India Act.

7. Notwithstanding anything in sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph three of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936, subsection (2) of section one hundred and eighty-one of the India Act shall come into force on the commencement of Part III of that Act:

Provided that, until the establishment of the Federal Railway Authority, references in the said subsection to the Authority shall be construed as references to the Governor-General in Council.

8. (1) The provisions of this paragraph shall have effect for a period of one year from the commencement of Part III of the India Act:

Provided that the Governor-General in Council or, as the case may be, His Majesty's representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relations with Indian States, may at any time direct that those provisions shall cease to have effect as respects any Province either generally, or in relation to any particular function or class of functions, or in relation to any particular law or enactment.

(2) Where any functions, which immediately before the commencement of Part III of the India Act were, under any existing Indian law, functions of the Governor or the Local Government of a Governor's Province, are transferred by or under the India Act to, or to some authority or officer nominated or appointed by, the Federal Government, the Governor shall continue to discharge those functions, subject to the like control by the Governor-General in Council as was exercisable by him immediately before the commencement of the said Part III.

Nothing in this sub-paragraph shall affect the operation of subsection (2) of section one hundred and forty-three of the India Act.

(3) The Chief Commissioner of a Chief Commissioner's Province shall discharge therein any functions which under any existing Indian law as for the time being in force are functions of a Provincial Government.

(4) Where any functions, which, for the purposes of the India Act, are functions of the Crown in its relations with Indian States, were immediately before the commencement of Part III of that Act being discharged by the Governor or the Local Government of, or some officer serving in connection with the affairs of, a Province, the Governor or, as the case may be, that officer, shall continue to discharge those functions, subject to the like control by His Majesty's representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relations with Indian States as were exercisable immediately before the commencement of the said Part III by the Governor-General in Council.

9. Paragraphs 9 and 10 of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936, are hereby repealed.

Provisions applicable both to India and Burma.

10. Notwithstanding the separation of India and Burma, the Indian Patents and Designs Act, 1911, shall, for a period of two years from the date of separation, have effect both in Burma and in India as if Burma had continued to be part of India, and accordingly references in that Act to the Advocate-General, to the High Court and to district courts shall, during that period, include references to the Advocate-General of Burma, the High Court at Rangoon and district courts in Burma, and the Governor of Burma shall be included among the authorities to whom certain documents are to be sent under section seventy-two of that Act:

Provided that nothing in this paragraph shall restrict any right of the Federal or the Indian Legislature or the Legislature of Burma to amend or repeal the said Act as respects India or Burma, as the case may be, with effect from before the expiration of the said period.

THE GOVERNMENT OF INDIA (ADAPTATION OF INDIAN LAWS) ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

The 18th day of March, 1937.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

Whereas by section two hundred and ninety-three of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in the recitals to this Order referred to as "the Act") His Majesty is empowered by Order in Council to provide that as from such date as may be specified in the Order any law in force in British India or in any part of British India shall, until repealed or amended by a competent legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to such adaptations and modifications as appear to His Majesty to be necessary or expedient for bringing the provisions of that law into accord with the provisions of the Act:

And whereas a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the Act and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order:

Now, therefore, His Majesty, in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of His Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows:

1. This Order may be cited as the Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, and shall come into operation on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

2. (1) In this Order the expression "Indian law" means a law as defined in section two hundred and ninety-three of the Act.

(2) The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this Order as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

3. The Indian laws mentioned in the Schedules to this Order shall, until repealed or amended by a competent Legislature or other competent authority, have effect subject to the adaptations and modifications directed by those Schedules to be made therein or, if it is so directed, shall cease to have effect.

4. (1) Whenever an expression mentioned in the first column of the table hereinunder printed occurs (otherwise than in a title or preamble or in a citation or description of an enactment) in a Central or Provincial Act or Regulation, whether an Act or Regulation mentioned in the Schedules to this Order or not, then, unless that expression is by this Order expressly directed to be otherwise adapted or modified, or to stand unmodified or to be omitted, there shall be substituted therefor the expression set opposite to it in column two of the said table.

Table of General Adaptations.

Governor-General of India in Council: Governor-General of India: Governor-General in Council: Governor-General: Government of India.	Central Government.
Governor in Council: Governor (except in the expression "Governor's Province"): Lieutenant Governor in Council: Lieutenant Governor: Chief Commissioner (except in the expression "Chief Commissioner's Province"): Local Government: Local Administration.	Provincial Government.
Gazette of India: local official Gazette: local gazette: any other expression denoting a gazette in which official notices of a government are published, not being the gazette of a district or other sub-division of a Province.	Official Gazette.

Any reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) of a named Province in Council shall be treated for the purposes of this paragraph as if it were a reference to the Governor (or Lieutenant Governor) in Council of that Province.

(2) A direction in the Schedules to this Order that a specified Indian law or section or portion of an Indian law shall stand unmodified shall be construed merely as a direction that it is not to be modified or adapted in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this paragraph.

5. (1) Where this Order requires that in any specified Indian law, or in any section or other portion of an Indian law, certain words shall be substituted for certain other words or that certain words shall be omitted, that substitution or omission, as the case may be, shall, except where it is otherwise expressly provided, be made wherever the words referred to occur in that law or, as the case may be, in that section or portion.

(2) Where this Order requires that in any Indian law a plural noun shall be substituted for a singular noun or vice versa, or a masculine noun for a neuter noun or vice versa, there shall be made also in any verb or pronoun in the sentence in question such consequential amendment as the rules of grammar may require.

6. (1) The following provisions shall have effect where any Indian law which under this Order is to be adapted or modified has before the commencement of this Order been amended, either generally or in relation to any particular area, by the insertion or omission of words, or the substitution of words for other words—

(a) effect shall first be given in the amending law to any adaptation or modification required by paragraphs three and five of this Order to be made therein;

(b) the original law shall then be amended, either generally or, as the case may be, in its application to the particular area, so as to give effect to the directions contained in the amending law or, where any adaptation or modification has fallen to be made under sub-paragraph (a), in that law as so adapted or modified; and

(c) all adaptations or modifications required by this Order to be made in the original law shall then be made in that law as so amended, except so far as in the case of any particular area they may be inapplicable

(2) In this paragraph references to the amendment of a law by the insertion or omission of words or the substitution of words do not include references to an amendment which is effected merely by directing that certain words shall be construed in a particular manner.

7. Subject to the foregoing provisions of this Order, any reference by whatever form of words in any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order to an authority competent at the date of the passing of that law to exercise any powers or authorities, or discharge any functions, in any part of British India shall, where a corresponding new authority has been constituted by or under any Part of the Government of India Act, 1935, for the time being in force, have effect until duly repealed or amended as if it were a reference to that new authority.

8. In any Indian law in force immediately before the commencement of this Order any reference by name or description to any territory shall, unless the contrary intention appears or unless it has been, or is by this Order, otherwise expressly provided, be construed as a reference to the territory which bore that name or answered to that description at the date when the enactment containing that name or description came into operation:

Provided that in the application of any enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, references in that enactment to Madras, Bombay, Bihar or the Central Provinces, as the case may be, shall be construed as exclusive of so much of those Provinces respectively as was separated therefrom on the constitution of the Provinces of Orissa and Sind.

9. The provisions of this Order which adapt or modify Indian laws so as to alter the manner in which, the authority by which, or the law under or in accordance with which, any powers are exercisable, shall not render invalid any notification, order, commitment, attachment, byelaw, rule or regulation duly made or issued, or anything duly done, before the commencement of this Order; and any such notification, order, commitment, attachment, byelaw, rule, regulation or thing may be revoked, varied or undone in the like manner, to the like extent and in the like circumstances as if it had been made, issued or done after the commencement of this Order by the competent authority and under and in accordance with the provisions then applicable to such a case.

10. Save as provided by this Order, all powers which under any law in force in British India, or in any part of British India, were immediately before the commencement of Part III of the Government of India Act, 1935, vested in, or exercisable by, any person or authority shall continue to be so vested or exercisable until other provision is made by some legislature or authority empowered to regulate the matter in question

11. Nothing in this Order shall affect the previous operation of, or anything duly done or suffered under, any Indian law, or any right, privilege, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred under any such law or any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence already committed against any such law.

12. For the avoidance of doubt it is hereby declared that—

(a) nothing in this Order transferring or assigning any functions to the Central Government shall be construed as excluding those functions from the operation of section one hundred and twenty-three or section one hundred and twenty-four of the Government of India Act, 1935;

(b) the transfer by this Order to a Provincial Government of any jurisdiction theretofore exercisable by the local Government of the Province shall not be construed as excluding that jurisdiction from the operation of sub-section (2) of section two hundred and ninety-six of the said Act;

(c) nothing in this Order shall affect the provisions of any Order in Council for the time being in force made under section one hundred and fifty-eight, section one hundred and fifty-nine or section one hundred and sixty of the said Act (which empower Orders to be made regulating the relations of India and Burma as to their monetary systems, relief from double taxation, customs, and ancillary and related matters), or under any corresponding provisions in the Government of Burma Act, 1935; and

(d) no repeal effected by this Order shall affect the operation of sub-paragraph (2) of paragraph fifteen of the Government of India (Commencement and Transitory Provisions) Order, 1936.

AND WHEREAS by section one hundred and fifty-six of the Act His Majesty in Council is empowered, for the purpose of facilitating the transition in Burma from the provisions of the Government of India Act to the provisions of the Act, to direct that the Act shall in Burma during a limited period have effect subject to adaptations and modifications, and to make other temporary provisions for the purpose of removing any difficulties arising in relation to the said transition:

THE INDIA AND BURMA (TRADE REGULATION) ORDER, 1937.

AT THE COURT AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE,

The 18th day of March, 1937.

PRESENT:

THE KING'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY IN COUNCIL.

Whereas by section one hundred and sixty of the Government of India Act, 1935 (hereafter in this Order referred to as "the India Act"), and section one hundred and thirty-five of the Government of Burma Act, 1935 (hereafter in this Order referred to as "the Burma Act"), His Majesty is empowered, with a view to preventing undue disturbance of trade between India and Burma in the period immediately following the separation of India and Burma and with a view to safeguarding the economic interests of Burma during that period, to give by Order in Council such directions as he thinks fit for those purposes with respect to the duties which are, while the Order is in force, to be levied on goods imported into or exported from India or Burma, and with respect to ancillary and related matters:

And whereas a draft of this Order has been laid before Parliament in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) of section three hundred and nine of the India Act and sub-section (1) of section one hundred and fifty-seven of the Burma Act, and an Address has been presented to His Majesty by both Houses of Parliament praying that an Order may be made in the terms of this Order:

Now, therefore, His Majesty in the exercise of the said powers and of all other powers enabling him in that behalf, is pleased by and with the advice of his Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered as follows:

PART I.

Introductory and General.

1. This Order may be cited as the India and Burma (Trade Regulation) Order, 1937.

2. The Interpretation Act, 1889, applies for the interpretation of this Order as it applies for the interpretation of an Act of Parliament.

3. In this Order—

"duty" means a customs duty payable on importation or exportation, or a cess payable on exportation;

"import duty" means a duty payable on importation;

"separation" means the separation of India and Burma.

4. Any question arising under this Order whether any goods have been produced or manufactured in any country shall be determined by the reference to the same tests as are at the date of separation applicable to the determination of similar questions for customs purposes in India.

5. In the event of any dispute between the Governor-General of India and the Governor of Burma as to the interpretation or application of any of the provisions of this Order (including any dispute as to whether any consent requisite under this Order has been unreasonably withheld) the dispute shall be referred to the Secretary of State and his decision shall be final.

6. Any reference in this Order to any Act shall, except so far as the contrary is expressly provided, be construed as a reference to that Act as for the time being in force in India or Burma, as the case may be.

7. This Order shall come into force on separation and shall remain in force for three years or until twelve months have elapsed from the giving by the Governor-General of India to the Governor of Burma, or by the Governor of Burma to the Governor-General of India, of notice to terminate the operation thereof, whichever is the longer period.

PART II.

Provisions as to British India.

1. Except as otherwise provided in this Order, no duties shall be leviable in British India on goods imported from, or exported to, Burma, in excess of the duties, if any, which are so leviable immediately before separation:

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply—

(a) to opium, salt, salted fish or spirit; or

(b) to goods brought into Burma from places outside British India and Burma and, without payment of duty in Burma, brought thence into British India; or

(c) if Burma ceases to be a party to the International Tea Restriction Scheme as applicable to India, to tea.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this Order all goods imported from, or exported to, a customs port or customs aerodrome in Burma shall in British India be deemed for the purposes of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, to be goods imported from, or exported to, a customs port or customs aerodrome in British India

3. No prohibitions or restrictions on import or export other than such as are specified in the Schedule to this Order shall have effect in British India with respect to the bringing of goods into British India from Burma or from British India into Burma.

4.—(1) The duties levied in British India immediately before separation on goods imported into British India from places outside Burma and India, or exported from British India into places outside British India and Burma, may only be reduced or abolished with the previous consent of the Governor of Burma:

Provided that—

(a) import duties on goods which at the date of separation are not produced or manufactured in Burma may be reduced or abolished if not less than two months before the reduction or abolition takes effect the Governor-General of India has given to the Governor of Burma notice of the intended reduction or abolition;

(b) if under paragraph four of Part III of this Order the Governor of Burma has given notice to the Governor-General of India of the reduction or abolition in Burma of import duties on any goods which at the date of separation are not produced or manufactured in India, import duties on such goods may be reduced or abolished in British India.

(2) Any consent of the Governor-General of India required under paragraph four of Part III of this Order to the reduction or abolition of any duty in Burma shall not be unreasonably withheld.

5.—(1) For the purposes of section three of the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923, and section three of the Indian Lac Cess Act, 1930, cotton, or lac (including refuse lac) produced in Burma shall in British India be deemed to have been produced in India.

(2) If at any time the cess leviable under either of the said Acts on any goods when exported from British India is higher than the cess leviable in Burma on similar goods when exported from Burma, a cess may be levied on those goods when exported from British India into Burma equal to the difference between the said cesses.

(3) If while this Order is in force a new cess is imposed in Burma on the exportation to countries outside India and Burma of any goods produced or manufactured in Burma, then, if any goods so manufactured or produced are without payment of the cess imported into British India, a cess of the same amount shall be levied in British India on the re-exportation of those goods to any country outside India and Burma.

6. If at any time the duty leviable on the importation into British India of any goods is higher than the duty leviable in Burma on such goods on importation into Burma, a duty may be levied in British India on the importation of those goods from Burma not exceeding the difference between the said duties.

7. If and so long as an excise duty is leviable in British India on any goods produced or manufactured therein, a countervailing import duty (not exceeding the excise duty) may be imposed on similar goods produced or manufactured in Burma:

Provided that—

(a) any such countervailing duty on steel ingots or on articles manufactured therefrom, may be imposed at any rate not exceeding the appropriate rate of refund authorised by section seven of the Iron and Steel Duties Act, 1934; and

(b) except in the case of goods mentioned in item forty of Part II of the Seventh Schedule to the India Act, no countervailing duty shall be leviable at a rate higher than that which will afford to goods produced or manufactured in Burma the same advantage as before separation over goods produced or manufactured outside Burma and India.

8. Notwithstanding anything in this Part of this Order, any duties at any rate may be levied in British India on goods imported or exported by land from or to any country outside India and Burma:

Provided that in fixing those duties and in the administration of the land customs, due regard shall be had to the principles underlying this Order, and if the import of any class of goods by land otherwise than on payment of the duties leviable on similar goods imported by sea or air affects seriously, or is likely to affect seriously, the advantages enjoyed by Burma under this Order, such steps, if any, shall be taken for safeguarding the interests of Burma as the local conditions may permit.

9. The provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and of any rules for the time being in force thereunder relating to, and to goods imported or exported in, coasting vessels shall, notwithstanding separation, continue to apply in relation to, and to goods imported or exported in, vessels plying between ports in Indian and ports in Burma, as they apply in relation to, and to goods imported or exported in, ships plying between ports in India.

10. The definitions of "home trade ships" and "coasting ships" in sections two and thirty-seven A of the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, and the provisions of section two hundred and eighteen of that Act (which confers exemptions from the provisions of that Act relating to load lines) shall, notwithstanding separation, have effect in British India as if no distinction existed between India and Burma.

11.—(1) Nothing in this Part of this Order shall be construed as restricting in any way the exercise of any of the powers conferred by section twenty-three of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, or sections three, four and eleven of the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, but in exercising, or authorising the exercise of any of those powers the Governor-General shall have due regard to the interests of Burma and to the principles underlying this Order, and, except where it appears to him impracticable or unnecessary so to do, shall previously consult the Governor of Burma.

(2) References in this paragraph to any enactment are references to that enactment as in force on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven.

PART III.

Provisions as to Burma.

1. Except as otherwise provided in this Order, no duties shall be leviable in Burma on goods imported from, or exported to, British India in excess of the duties, if any, which are so leviable immediately before separation:

Provided that this paragraph shall not apply—

(a) to opium, salt, salted fish or spirit; or

(b) to goods brought into British India from places outside British India and Burma and, without payment of duty in British India, brought thence into Burma; or

(c) if Burma ceases to be a party to the International Tea Restriction Scheme as applicable to India, to tea.

2. Except as otherwise provided in this Order, all goods imported from or exported to, a customs port or customs aerodrome in British India shall in Burma be deemed for the purposes of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, to be goods imported from, or exported to, a customs port or customs aerodrome in Burma.

3. No prohibitions or restrictions on import or export other than such as are specified in the Schedule to this Order shall have effect in Burma with respect to the bringing of goods into Burma from British India or from Burma into British India.

4.—(1) The duties levied in Burma immediately before separation on goods imported into Burma from places outside Burma and British India, or exported from Burma into places outside Burma and British India, may only be reduced or abolished with the previous consent of the Governor-General of India:

Provided that—

(a) import duties on goods which at the date of separation are not produced or manufactured in India may be reduced or abolished if not less than two months before the reduction or abolition takes effect the Governor of Burma has given to the Governor-General of India notice of the intended reduction or abolition;

(b) if under paragraph four of Part II of this Order the Governor-General of India has given notice to the Governor of Burma of the reduction or abolition in British India of import duties on any goods which at the date of separation are not produced or manufactured in Burma, import duties on such goods may be reduced or abolished in Burma.

(2) Any consent of the Governor of Burma required under paragraph four of Part II of this Order to the reduction or abolition of any duty in British India shall not be unreasonably withheld.

5.—(1) For the purposes of section three of the Indian Cotton Cess Act, 1923, and section three of the Indian Lac Cess Act, 1930, cotton or lac (including refuse lac) produced in British India shall in Burma be deemed to have been produced in Burma.

(2) If at any time the cess leviable under either of the said Acts on any goods when exported from Burma is higher than the cess leviable in British India on similar goods when exported from British India a cess may be levied on those goods when exported from Burma into British India equal to the difference between the said cesses.

(3) If while this Order is in force a new cess is imposed in British India on the exportation to countries outside India and Burma of any goods produced or manufactured in British India, then, if any goods so manufactured or produced are without payment of the cess imported into Burma, a cess of the same amount shall be levied in Burma on the re-exportation of those goods to any country outside India and Burma.

6. If at any time the duty leviable on the importation into Burma of any goods is higher than the customs duty leviable in British India on such goods on importation into British India, a duty may be levied in Burma on the importation of those goods from British India not exceeding the difference between the said duties.

7. If and so long as an excise duty is leviable in Burma on any goods produced or manufactured therein, a countervailing import duty (not exceeding the excise duty) may be imposed on similar goods produced or manufactured in British India:

Provided that—

(a) any such countervailing duty on steel ingots or on articles manufactured therefrom, may be imposed at any rate not exceeding the appropriate rate of refund authorised by section seven of the Iron and Steel Duties Act, 1934; and

(b) except in the case of goods mentioned in item forty of Part II of the Seventh Schedule to the India Act, no countervailing duty shall be leviable at a rate higher than that which will afford to goods produced or manufactured in British India the same advantage as before separation over goods produced or manufactured outside India and Burma.

8. A duty may be imposed in Burma on rice exported to India not exceeding that imposed on rice exported to other countries.

9.—(1) If at any time a limit is imposed on the quantity of Japanese cotton piece goods that may be imported into India, the Governor of Burma shall also by notification impose a limit on the quantity of such goods that may be imported into Burma.

(2) The said limit shall be such as to secure that the quantity of Japanese cotton piece goods imported into Burma from places outside India in each year does not exceed the total quantity of such goods imported into Burma from places outside India during the financial year commencing on the first day of April, nineteen hundred and thirty-four.

(3) Subject as aforesaid, the notification may impose separate limits with respect to particular classes of such goods.

10. Notwithstanding anything in this Part of this Order, any duties at any rate may be levied in Burma on goods imported or exported by land from or to any country outside India and Burma:

Provided that in fixing those duties and in the administration of the land customs, due regard shall be had to the principles underlying this Order, and if the import of any class of goods by land otherwise than on payment of the duties leviable on similar goods imported by sea or air affects seriously, or is likely to affect seriously, the advantages enjoyed by British India under this Order, such steps if any shall be taken for safeguarding the interests of British India as the local conditions may permit.

11. The provisions of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, and of any rules for the time being in force thereunder relating to, and to goods imported or exported in, coasting vessels shall notwithstanding separation, continue to apply in relation to, and to goods imported or exported in vessels plying between ports in India and ports in Burma as they apply in relation to, and to goods imported or exported in ships plying between ports in Burma.

12. The definitions of "home trade ships" and "coasting ships" in sections two and thirty-seven A in the Indian Merchant Shipping Act, 1923, and the provisions of section two hundred and eighteen of that Act (which confers exemption from the provisions of that Act relating to load lines) shall have effect as if no distinction existed between India and Burma.

13.—(1) Nothing in this part of this Order shall be construed as restricting in any way the exercise of any of the powers conferred by section twenty-three of the Sea Customs Act, 1878, or sections three, four and eleven of the Indian Tariff Act, 1934, but in exercising, or authorising the exercise of, any of those powers the Governor shall have due regard to the interests of British India and to the principles underlying this Order, and, except where it appears to him impracticable or unnecessary so to do, shall previously consult the Governor-General of India.

(2) References in this paragraph to any enactment are references to that enactment as in force on the first day of January, nineteen hundred and thirty-seven, subject however, to any adaptations made therein under section one hundred and forty-nine of the Burma Act.

14.—(1) If His Majesty's Representative for the exercise of the functions of the Crown in its relations with Indian States certifies with respect to any Indian State that the provisions of Part II of this Order will, with any necessary adaptations and modifications, be applied, so far as is reasonably practicable; in and in relation to that State as they are applied in and in relation to British India, then, unless and until the certificate is revoked by His Majesty's said Representative, the provisions of this Part of this Order shall have effect as if references to British India were references to British India and that State.

(2) A certificate for the purposes of this paragraph may be given before separation by the Governor-General of India.

New Delhi, the 23rd March 1937.

No. S.-500.—In pursuance of sub-section (2) of section 1 of the Indian Electricity (Amendment) Act, 1937 (X of 1937), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to appoint the 31st March 1937 as the date on which the said Act shall come into force

New Delhi, the 27th March 1937.

No. S-601.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 37 of the Indian Electricity Act, 1910 (IX of 1910), and in supersession of the Indian Electricity Rules, 1922, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules applicable to the whole of British India, to regulate the generation, transmission, supply and use of energy, and generally to carry out the purposes and objects of the said Act—

RULES.

CHAPTER I.

PRELIMINARY.

1. These rules may be called the Indian Electricity Rules, 1937.

2. (1) Definitions.—In these rules, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "the Act" means the Indian Electricity Act, 1910;

(b) "ampere" means a unit of electric current, and is the electric current which, when passed through a solution of nitrate of silver in water, in accordance with the specification set out in Annexure I, deposits silver at the rate of 0·001118 of a gramme per second;

the aforesaid unit is represented by the current which is passing in and through the coils of wire forming part of the instrument marked "Government of India Ampere Standard Verified" when the suspended coil in its sighted position is exactly balanced by the force exerted by gravity in Calcutta on the iridio-platinum weight forming part of the said instrument;

(c) "Annexure" means an Annexure to these rules;

(d) "apparatus" means electrical apparatus, and includes all apparatus, machines, and fittings in which conductors are used, or of which they form a part;

(e) "bare" means not covered with insulating material;

(f) "circuit" means an electrical circuit forming a system or branch of a system;

(g) "concentric system" means a system in which a conductor, called the inner conductor, is insulated and in which the circuit is completed through one or more conductors, called the outer conductors, which are insulated from one another and are disposed over the insulation of, and more or less completely round, the inner conductor;

(h) "conductor" means an electrical conductor arranged to be electrically connected to a system;

(i) "covered with insulating material" means adequately covered with insulating material of such quality and thickness that there is no danger;

(j) "cut-out" means any appliance for automatically interrupting the transmission of energy through any conductor when the current rises above a predetermined amount;

(k) "danger" means danger to health or danger to life or limb from shock, burn, or other injury to persons, or from fire or explosion, attendant upon the generation, transformation, distribution, or use of energy;

(l) "dead" means at or about earth potential, and disconnected from any live system:

Provided that apparatus separated from a live conductor by a spark gap shall not be considered dead;

(m) "distributing licensee" means a licensee who obtains from another licensee or other source a supply of energy in bulk for distribution;

(n) "earthed" or "connected with earth" means connected with the general mass of earth in such manner as to ensure at all times an immediate discharge of energy without danger;

(o) "earthing system" means an electrical system in which all the conductors are earthed;

(p) "electrician" means a person who is over 21 years of age and is competent for the purposes of the rule in which the term is used and who has been appointed in writing by the lessee, owner, agent or manager of any apparatus for the purpose of supervising it;

(q) "Inspector" means an Electric Inspector appointed under section 36;

(r) "Inspector of Mines" means an Inspector appointed under the Indian Mines Act, 1923; [IV of 1923.]

(s) "live" means electrically charged;

(t) "metallic covering" means iron or steel armouring, with or without a lead or other metallic sheath as the conditions of the case may require, or an iron or steel pipe surrounding one or more conductors;

(u) "neutral conductor" means that conductor of a multi-wire system, the pressure of which is normally intermediate between the pressures of the other conductors of the system;

(v) "non-licensee" means a person generating, supplying, transmitting or using energy to whom any of the provisions of Part III of the Act apply;

(w) "ohm" means a unit of electric resistance, and is the resistance offered to an electric current by a column of mercury at the temperature of melting ice 14·4521 grammes in mass of an uniform cross-sectional area and of a length of 106·3 centimetres;

the aforesaid unit is represented by the resistance between the terminals of the instrument marked "Government of India Ohm Standard Verified" to the passage of an electric current when the coil of wire forming part of the aforesaid instrument and connected to the aforesaid terminals is in all parts at a temperature of 30°C.;

(x) "open sparking" means sparking which owing to the lack of adequate provisions for preventing the ignition of inflammable gas external to the apparatus would ignite such inflammable gas;

(y) "owner", "agent" or "manager" of a mine have the same meanings as are assigned to them in sections 3 (g), 3 (a) and 15(l), respectively, of the Indian Mines Act, 1923; [IV of 1923.]

(z) "pressure" means the difference of electric potential measured in volts between any two conductors, or between any part of either conductor and the earth as measured by a suitable voltmeter, and is said to be—

(i) "low" where the normal pressure is not greater than 250 volts and the pressure in no circumstances exceeds 263 volts;

(ii) "medium" where the normal pressure is greater than 250 volts but is not greater than 650 volts, and the pressure in no circumstances exceeds 683 volts;

(aa) "section" means a section of the Act;

(bb) "switchgear" means switches, cut-outs or fuses, conductors, and other apparatus in connection therewith, used for the purpose of controlling the current or pressure in any system or part of a system;

(cc) "system" means an electrical system in which all the conductors and apparatus are electrically connected to a common source of pressure;

(dd) "volt" means a unit of electro-motive force, and is the electric pressure which, when steadily applied to a conductor whose resistance is one ohm, will produce a current of one ampere; and

(ee) "watt" means a unit of power, and is the energy expended per second by an electric current of one ampere under an electric pressure of one volt.

Explanation.—With alternating current, the product of the instantaneous value of the amperes and the instantaneous value of the volts gives the instantaneous value of the power in watts, and the mean value, over a whole period, is the power in watts.

(2) In these rules other words and expressions have the same meaning as are assigned to them in the Act.

3. Authorisation.—(1) A licensee, a non-licensee or a consumer, or the owner, agent or manager of a mine, or the agent of any company operating in an oil-field or the owner of a drilled well in an oil-field or a contractor for the time being under contract with a licensee, a non-licensee or a consumer to carry out duties incidental to the generation, transformation, distribution or use of energy may authorise any person for the purpose of any or all of the following rules, namely, rules 43, 60, 64 (1), 96 (2), 106 (1), 108 (4) and 109.

4. Qualifications of Inspector.—No person shall be appointed to be an Inspector unless,—

(a) he has had at least five years' practical experience in an electrical or mechanical engineering workshop or electric power station; and

(b) after acquiring such experience, he has been regularly engaged for a period of at least five years in the practice of electrical engineering:

Provided that the Governor-General in Council or the provincial Government, as the case may be, may appoint any person not so qualified, if in his or its opinion such person is otherwise fully qualified to exercise the powers and perform the functions of an Inspector.

5. Entry and Inspection.—(1) Any Inspector or any officer appointed to assist an Inspector may enter, inspect and examine any place, carriage or vessel in which he has reason to believe that there is any appliance or apparatus used in the generation, transmission, supply or use of energy and may carry out tests therein.

(2) Every licensee, non-licensee, consumer and occupier shall afford at all times all reasonable facilities to any such Inspector or officer to make such examinations and tests as may be necessary to satisfy himself as to the due observance of the Act, the licence (if any) and these rules.

CHAPTER IV.

CONDITIONS OF SUPPLY BY LICENSEE.

25. Precautions against leakage before connection.—(1) A licensee shall not connect with his works the apparatus on the premises of any applicant for a supply unless he is reasonably satisfied that the connection will not at the time of making the connection cause a leakage from that apparatus exceeding one five-thousandth part of the maximum supply demanded on the applicant's premises.

(2) If a licensee declines to make a connection in accordance with sub-rule (1), he shall serve upon the applicant a notice stating his reason for so declining.

26. Leakage on consumer's premises.—(1) If a licensee has reason to believe that there is in the system of a consumer leakage which is likely to affect injuriously the use of energy by the licensee or by other persons or which is likely to cause danger, he may give the consumer reasonable notice in writing that he desires to inspect and test the apparatus.

(2) If on such notice being given—

(a) the consumer does not give all reasonable facilities for inspection and testing, or

(b) a leakage from the consumer's system exceeding one five-thousandth part of the maximum supply required by the consumer is shown to exist, the licensee may forthwith discontinue to supply energy to the system in question, giving immediate notice of the discontinuance to the consumer, and need not recommence the supply until he is satisfied that the cause of the leakage has been removed.

27. Appeal to Inspector in regard to leakage.—(1) If an applicant for a supply or a consumer is dissatisfied with the action of a licensee under rule 25 or rule 26 in declining to make a connection or in discontinuing, or in not recommencing the supply of energy to his system he may appeal to an Inspector, and the Inspector or under his orders any other officer appointed to assist the Inspector shall, on such application and on payment of the fee fixed under sub-rule (2) of rule 7, test the apparatus for the existence of leakage.

(2) The test shall be carried out within forty-eight hours of the receipt of the application for it or of the payment of the fee under sub-rule (1), whichever is later.

(3) If the Inspector or other officer, as aforesaid, on testing finds that the leakage from the appellant's system is less than one five-thousandth part of the maximum supply required by the appellant, the Inspector shall notify the licensee, and the licensee shall, within twenty-four hours, commence or continue the supply of energy, and the licensee shall pay to the appellant an amount equal to the fee paid by the appellant to the Inspector under sub-rule (1), if the Inspector so directs.

(4) This rule shall be endorsed on every notice given under the provisions of rule 25 or rule 26.

28. Declared pressure of supply to consumers.—Before commencing to supply energy to a consumer, a licensee shall declare to the consumer the pressure at which he undertakes to supply energy and he shall not, without the written consent of the consumer or the previous sanction of the provincial Government, permit the pressure to vary therefrom by more than 5 per cent. in the case of low or medium pressure, or by more than 12½ per cent. in the case of high pressure:

Provided that, for the purposes of testing or for any other purposes connected with the efficient working of the undertaking, the supply of energy may be discontinued by the licensee for such period as may be necessary subject (except in cases of emergency) to not less than twenty-four hours' notice being given by the licensee to all consumers likely to be affected by such discontinuance; and in the event of any such consumer objecting, the supply of energy shall not be discontinued (except in cases of emergency) without the consent of the provincial Government and subject to such conditions as it may impose.

29. Declared frequency of supply to consumers.—From the time of commencing the supply of energy to a consumer by means of an alternating current a licensee shall declare to the consumer the frequency at which he undertakes to supply energy and the licensee shall not, without the written consent of the consumer or the previous sanction of the provincial Government, permit the frequency to vary therefrom by more than 4 per cent.

30. Examinations of licensee's records by consumer.—A consumer may, after giving not less than twenty-four hours' notice to the licensee, enter any testing station established by the licensee, in accordance with clause XIII of the Schedule to the Act, and may examine the records of the tests made therein; and he may also take copies of or extracts from such records on payment to the licensee of a sum of one rupee for every such examination of a record covering a period of twenty-four hours or any part of twenty-four hours.

31. Sealing of meters.—(1) A licensee may affix one or more seals to any meter, maximum demand indicator, or other apparatus placed upon a consumer's premises in accordance with section 26, and to any cut-out placed upon a consumer's premises in accordance with rule 40 and no person other than the licensee shall break any such seal.

(2) The consumer shall use all reasonable means in his power to ensure that no such seal is broken otherwise than by the licensee.

32. Limits of errors in the meters.—The limits of error permissible in a meter placed upon a consumer's premises in accordance with section 26 are for the purposes of that section the following, namely:—

(a) where the meter is of a type included in the "British Standard Specification for Electricity Meters; No. 37" dated 1930, the limits of error laid down in that Specification;

(b) where the meter is of any other type, it shall not register more than 3 per cent. above or below absolute accuracy at all loads in excess of one-fifth of full load and up to full load;

(c) no meter shall register at no load.

33. Conditions for maximum demand indicators.—The conditions with which a maximum demand indicator or other apparatus placed upon a consumer's premises in accordance with section 26, shall comply are for the purposes of that section the following, namely:—

(a) it shall not register more than 3 per cent. above or below absolute accuracy at all loads in excess of one-fifth of full load and up to full load;

(b) it shall not register at no load.

34. Sale of plans.—Copies of plans or sections such as are referred to in clause XVI of the Schedule to the Act shall be supplied by the licensee to every applicant at a price not exceeding one rupee per square foot.

35. Point of commencement of supply.—The point at which the supply of energy by a licensee to a consumer shall be deemed to commence shall—

(a) where the amount of energy supplied to a consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply is ascertained by meter, be, in respect of a conductor from the service-line which passes through the meter, the point at which such conductor enters the meter, and, in respect of a conductor from the service-line which does not pass through the meter, the point on such conductor nearest to the meter;

(b) where the amount of energy supplied to a consumer or the electrical quantity contained in the supply is not ascertained by meter, be the point at which the cut-out is inserted in the service-line by the licensee in accordance with rule 40.

36. Preparation and submission of accounts.—(1) Every licensee, unless exempted in accordance with section 11, shall cause the accounts of his undertaking to be made up to the thirty-first day of December or the thirty-first day of March, at the option of such licensee, or to such other date as the provincial Government may approve.

(2) Such licensee shall prepare and render an annual statement of his accounts in accordance with the provisions of section 11 within a period of six months from such date as aforesaid, or such extended period as the provincial Government may authorise after it is satisfied that the time allowed is insufficient owing to any cause not within the control of the licensee; and the statement shall be rendered in duplicate if the provincial Government so desires.

(3) The accounts shall be made up as far as circumstances permit in one or other of the prescribed forms set out in Annexures IV and V according as the licensee is or is not a local authority and may, at the option of the licensee, be rendered either in British Indian or in British sterling currency:

Provided that the provincial Government may, by special or general order, direct that the accounts of any undertaking shall be made up in any form it may direct in such order.

37. Forms of certain requisitions.—Requisitions under sub-clause (4) of clause V or sub-clause (5) of clause VI, as the case may be, of the Schedule to the Act shall be made in the form set out in Annexure VI or Annexure VII.

CHAPTER V.

GENERAL PRECAUTIONS FOR THE SAFETY OF THE PUBLIC.

38. Responsibility of licensees for their works on consumers' premises.—Licensees shall ensure that all electric supply-lines and apparatus belonging to them, or under their control, which are on a consumer's premises, are maintained in a safe condition electrically and mechanically and shall take due precautions to avoid danger arising on such premises from such supply-lines or apparatus.

39. Service-lines on consumers' premises.—Service-lines placed by a licensee on the premises of a consumer which are underground or which are accessible without the aid of a ladder or other special appliance shall be so insulated and protected by the licensee as to be secure under all ordinary conditions against electrical, mechanical, chemical, or other injury to the insulation, and against access of moisture.

40. Cut-out on consumers' premises.—A licensee shall provide a suitable cut-out in each conductor of every service-line (other than an earthed neutral conductor or the earthed external conductor of a concentric cable) within a consumer's premises, in an accessible position as close as possible to the point of entry. Such cut-out shall be contained within an adequately enclosed fire-proof receptacle:

Provided that, where more than one consumer is supplied through a common service-line, each such consumer who so requires shall be provided with an independent cut-out at the point of junction to the common service.

41. Accessibility of bare conductors.—Where bare conductors are used in a building the owners of such conductors shall ensure that they are inaccessible without the aid of a ladder or other special appliance and shall provide switches for rendering them dead whenever necessary.

42. Handling of apparatus.—Before any conductor or apparatus is handled, adequate precautions shall be taken, by earthing or other suitable means, to discharge electrically such conductor or apparatus, and any adjacent conductor or apparatus if there is danger therefrom, and to prevent any conductor or apparatus from being accidentally or inadvertently electrically charged when persons are working thereon:

Provided that this sub-rule shall not apply to the cleaning of commutators and slip-rings working at low or medium pressures.

43. Repairs to apparatus.—No repair of any part of any apparatus shall be effected while the part is live, except by an authorised person.

44. Supply to vehicles, etc.—Every person owning a vehicle, travelling crane or the like to which energy is supplied shall ensure that it is efficiently controlled by a suitable switch enabling all pressure to be cut off, and, where such vehicles, travelling cranes or the like run on metal rails, the owner shall ensure that the rails are electrically continuous and earthed.

45. Cables for portable motors.—(1) Trailing cables shall not be used for portable motors and apparatus connected therewith unless they are specially flexible, heavily insulated and protected from mechanical injury.

(2) Where the protection is by means of metallic covering, the covering shall be in metallic connection with the frame of the motor and earth.

46. Instructions for restoration of persons suffering from electric shock.—(1) Instructions, both in English and in the vernacular of the district, for the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock, shall be affixed by the owner in a conspicuous place in every generating station and sub-station, and in every factory as defined in clause (j) of section 2 of the Factories Act, 1934, in which electricity is used, and in such other premises where electricity is used as the Inspector may, by notice served on the owner, direct.

[XXV of 1934.]

(2) Copies of the instructions shall be supplied on demand by every Inspector at a price to be fixed by the provincial Government.

47. Instruction in artificial respiration.—The owner of every generating station and sub-station and of every factory to which rule 46 applies shall ensure that all authorised persons employed by him are acquainted with and able to apply the instructions referred to in rule 46.

48. Precautions to be adopted by consumers and owners, electrical contractors and electrical workmen.—(1) No electrical installation work, including additions, alterations, repairs, and adjustments to existing installations, except such replacement of lamps, fans, fuses, switches and other component parts of the installation as in no way alters its capacity or character shall be carried out upon the premises or on behalf of any consumer or owner for the purposes of the supply of energy to such consumer or owner, except by an electrical contractor licensed by the provincial Government in this behalf and under the direct supervision of a person holding a certificate of competency issued by the provincial Government:

Provided that, the provincial Government may by notification in the local official Gazette exempt such conditions as it may impose any such description of work either generally or in the case of any specified class of consumers or owners from so much of this sub-rule as requires such work to be carried out by an electrical contractor licensed by the provincial Government in this behalf:

Provided further that this rule shall not apply to any work carried out by or on behalf of the Government of India unless the Government of India so direct.

(2) This rule shall come into force in any province or part thereof on such date as the provincial Government may by notification in the local official Gazette appoint.

CHAPTER VI.

ELECTRIC SUPPLY-LINES AND APPARATUS.

49. Construction, insulation and earthing of apparatus.—(1) All apparatus shall be sufficient in power and size and of sufficient mechanical strength for the work it may be required to do, and, so far as is practicable, shall be so constructed, installed, protected, worked and maintained as to prevent danger.

(2) All insulating material shall be chosen with special regard to the circumstances of its proposed use. It shall be of mechanical strength sufficient for its purpose, and, so far as is practicable, shall be of such a character or so protected as fully to maintain its insulating properties under working conditions of temperature and moisture.

(3) No live parts shall be so exposed as to be capable of being touched by persons not intended to have access to them.

(4) Every part of a system shall be kept efficiently insulated from earth, except that:—

(i) the neutral point of a polyphase system may be earthed at one point only:

(ii) the mid-voltage point of any system, other than a concentric system, may be earthed at one point only.

50. Accidental charge.—The owners of all circuits and apparatus shall so arrange them that there shall be no danger of any part thereof becoming accidentally charged to any pressure beyond the limits of pressure for which it is intended.

51. Switches to be on the live wire.—(1) In any case where the conductors brought by the licensee to the point of commencement of supply include an earthed neutral conductor, the supply of energy shall not be commenced, or continued, until or unless the following provisions have been or are complied with, namely:—

(a) An indication of a permanent nature shall be provided by the licensee at or near the point of commencement of supply to enable such neutral conductor to be distinguished from any live conductor at that point, and no single-pole switch shall be inserted by the licensee in such conductor or any branch thereof except as hereinafter provided by this rule;

(b) If so required by the licensee the consumer shall provide a similar indication to distinguish that conductor, forming part of his system, which is to be connected to the earthed neutral conductor at the point of commencement of supply.

(2) In no case referred to in sub-rule (1) shall the consumer insert any single-pole switch or cut-out or permit such switch or cut-out to be or to remain inserted in any conductor referred to in sub-rule (1) (b).

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-rule (1) (a) of this rule, certain apparatus may be connected in an earthed neutral conductor as follows:—

(a) A link may be inserted for testing purposes, or a switch for use in controlling a generator or transformer;

(b) A switch or link may be inserted in the connection between the neutral conductor and earth at a generating station or sub-station for use in testing and emergencies only:

Provided that, in the case of consumers' systems connected to the licensee's main prior to the 1st July 1937 no penalty shall attach to any breach of this rule occurring before the 1st July 1938.

52. Crossing metallic substances.—(1) Where an electric supply-line crosses, or is in proximity to, any metallic substance, the owner of the supply-line shall take such precautions as an Inspector may approve against the possibility of the metallic substance becoming charged.

(2) Where such metallic substance is introduced after the electric supply-line has been laid or erected, the cost incurred in taking such precautions shall be refunded to the owner of the electric supply-line by the owner of the metallic substance.

53. Cut-out.—The owner of every electric supply-line (other than the earthed neutral conductor of any system or the earthed external conductor of a concentric cable) shall protect it by a suitable cut-out.

54. Metal casings.—All metal casings or metallic coverings containing or protecting any electric supply-line or apparatus shall be connected with earth by the owner, and shall be so joined and connected across all junction-boxes and other openings as to make good mechanical and electrical connection throughout their whole length:

Provided that this rule shall not apply to isolated wall tubes or to brackets, electroliers, standards, switch or fan regulator covers or other fittings (other than portable hand-lamps in factories) where the supply is at low pressure.

55. Junction-boxes.—The owners of all street junction-boxes or pillars containing circuits or apparatus shall secure their covers and doors in such a manner that they can be opened only by means of a special appliance.

56. Distinction of circuits of different pressure.—The owner of every generating station, sub-station, junction-box or pillar in which there are any circuits or apparatus, intended for operation at different pressures, shall ensure that the respective circuits are readily distinguishable from one another.

57. Connection with earth of frames of generators, etc.—The frame of every generator, stationary motor, and, so far as is practicable, portable motor, and the metallic parts (not intended as conductors) of all transformers and regulating or controlling apparatus connected with the supply, shall be earthed by the owner by two separate and distinct connections with earth.

58. Connection with earth of a multi-wire system.—In every distributing system in which there is a neutral conductor, where the pressure between the neutral conductor and an outer or phase conductor exceeds 125 volts, the neutral conductor shall be connected with earth by two separate and distinct connections from the neutral bus-bar and in accordance with the following provisions, namely:—

(a) the connection shall be made at one point only on each distinct system, namely, at the generating station or sub-station, or both, as the case may be, and the insulation of the system shall be maintained at all other parts;

(b) the connection shall not be made by the aid of, nor shall it be in contact with any water-main, gas-main or similar main not belonging to the licensee or non-licensee, as the case may be, except with the consent of the owner thereof and of the Inspector; a resistance, not exceeding 20 ohms, may be inserted between the neutral bus-bar and earth, and, if so inserted, it shall be of sufficient cross-sectional area to carry the current which would pass should an outer or phase conductor become accidentally connected with earth;

(c) the connection shall not be removed except for the purpose of testing, in which case it shall be made good again as soon as such test is finished, and a record of any such disconnection shall be kept by the licensee or non-licensee, as the case may be;

(d) the connection shall not be removed in a licensee's system except between 1 A.M. and 3 A.M., and, in a non-licensee's system, while the generator is in operation or energy is being used;

(e) the current from the neutral conductor to earth shall, in the case of a licensee's direct current distributing system, be continuously recorded, and, if at any time it exceeds one-thousandth part of the maximum supply current, steps shall immediately be taken to improve the insulation of the system.

59. Connection with earth of concentric conductors.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (4) of rule 49, when concentric conductors are used, the owner shall maintain the insulation throughout, except that the external conductor may be connected with earth at one point:

Provided that where a person generates electricity exclusively for use on his own premises, he may use a bare external conductor if it is connected with earth and if no switch, cut-out or circuit breaker is inserted in that conductor or in any conductor connected thereto.

Exception.—Switches, cut-outs or circuit breakers may be used to break the connection with the generators or transformers supplying energy:

Provided that in no case shall the connection of a bare external conductor with earth be thereby broken.

CHAPTER VII.

SUPPLY AT MEDIUM OR HIGH PRESSURE.

60. General precautions applicable to supply at medium or high pressure.—Where a licensee proposes to supply or use energy at medium or high pressure, he shall give notice to an Inspector and shall not commence or continue the supply unless and until he has complied with the following provisions, namely:—

(a) all live parts of apparatus shall, unless accessible only to, and under the control of, an authorised person, be protected by mechanically strong metal casings or metallic coverings securely fastened throughout;

(b) suitable linked switches, of requisite capacity to carry and break the current, shall be inserted in each conductor, near the point of origin on the consumer's premises;

(c) every conductor, unless accessible only to an authorised person, shall be, as far as is practicable, completely enclosed in a mechanically strong metal casing or metallic covering, securely fastened throughout or fixed in such other manner as may be approved in writing by an Inspector;

(d) the supply to every apparatus shall be efficiently controlled by suitable linked switches, of requisite capacity to carry and break the current in each conductor, placed near the apparatus in such a position as to be readily handled by the operator, so that by their means all pressure can be cut off from the apparatus concerned and from any device in connection therewith;

(e) the word "CAUTION" both in English and in the vernacular shall be affixed permanently in a conspicuous position, where possible, on every generator and every motor and every controlling or regulating apparatus in connection with such generator or motor:

Provided that, where it is not possible to affix them on the generator, motor, or apparatus, they shall be fixed as near as possible:

Provided also that, where the generator, motor, controlling or regulating apparatus, is within an enclosure accessible only to an authorised person, one notice affixed to the enclosure shall be sufficient for the purposes of this sub-rule.

61. Main switchboard.—The owner of every main switchboard connected with a supply of energy at medium or high pressure shall comply with the following provisions, namely:—

(a) a clear space of not less than 3 feet in width shall be provided in front of the switchboard;

(b) if there are any attachments or bare connections at the back of the switchboard, the space (if any) behind the switchboard shall be either less than 9 inches, or more than 30 inches in width, measured from the furthest outstanding part of any attachment or conductor;

(c) if the space behind the switchboard exceeds 30 inches in width, there shall be a passage-way clear to a height of not less than 6 feet, save as regards any horizontal supports of the switchboard, which may be placed at a height of not less than 4 feet 6 inches.

62. Approval of high pressure supply.—(1) No licensee or non-licensee shall deliver a high pressure supply to any person, other than a distributing licensee, except with the approval in writing of an Inspector, and subject to such conditions (if any) as such Inspector may think reasonable and proper in the circumstances, and the owner shall not bring the installation into use until it has been inspected by an Inspector or other officer appointed to assist an Inspector.

(2) Where energy is to be used by an owner at high pressure, the owner shall not bring the installation into use except with the approval in writing of an Inspector and subject to such conditions (if any) as he may think fit.

(3) When the position of a high pressure motor or other apparatus is changed, notice shall forthwith be given to the Inspector showing the extent and nature of the change of position.

(4) The owner of any high pressure installation who makes any such alterations in or additions to the installation as affect the supply shall not utilize the alterations or additions for the purposes of supply unless and until they have been approved by an Inspector.

63. Testing of insulation of high pressure circuit.—(1) The owner of a high pressure circuit, other than an aerial line, shall not bring it into use unless the insulation of electric supply-line, machine, device or apparatus pertaining thereto has withstood the continuous application, during one minute, of the testing pressure given in sub-rule (2); and the owner shall duly record the results of each test and shall forward them to an Inspector.

(2) For the purposes of sub-rule (1)—

(a) if the normal working pressure does not exceed 1,000 volts the testing pressure shall be 2,000 volts,

(b) if the normal working pressure exceeds 1,000 volts but does not exceed 10,000 volts, the testing pressure shall be double the normal working pressure,

(c) if the normal working pressure exceeds 10,000 volts the testing pressure shall be the normal working pressure plus 10,000 volts:

Provided that an Inspector may, if he thinks fit, accept the manufacturer's certified tests in place of the tests required by this rule.

64. High pressure electric supply lines and apparatus placed above ground.—(1) All owners of high pressure apparatus, including every portion of any high pressure electric supply line (other than an aerial line) placed above the surface of the ground, unless it is in a sub-station, or in a compartment specially arranged for the purpose and accessible only to authorised persons, shall ensure that it is completely enclosed in, or protected by, a mechanically strong metal casing or metallic covering securely fastened throughout:

Provided that this sub-rule shall not apply to neon signs and X-ray apparatus which are operated in accordance with instructions issued by the Inspector.

(2) All owners of circuits and apparatus connected with any high pressure apparatus to which sub-rule (1) is applicable shall ensure that they are marked at frequent intervals with the word "CAUTION", both in English and in the vernacular. All supports of high pressure aerial lines shall be similarly marked at frequent intervals.

CHAPTER VIII.

AERIAL LINES.

65. Minimum strength of conductors of aerial lines.—The owner of an aerial line shall not use it for the supply of energy unless each conductor has an actual breaking load of not less than 700 lbs.:

Provided that, where the pressure is low and the span is of less than 50 feet and is on the owner's premises, a conductor having an actual breaking load of not less than 300 lbs. may be used.

66. Maximum intervals between supports.—The owner of an aerial line shall ensure that the conductors are attached to supports at intervals, not exceeding the safe limits based on the actual breaking load of the conductor and the factor of safety prescribed in rule 68:

Provided that where such a line is erected in, over, along or across any street, the interval shall not, without the consent in writing of the Inspector, exceed 220 feet.

67. Connection with earth of metal supports and stay wires.—(1) The owner of every aerial line supported by metal supports shall ensure that these supports are permanently and efficiently earthed. For this purpose a continuous earth wire securely fastened to each support and connected with earth at four points in every mile, the spacing between the points being as nearly equidistant as possible, shall be provided, or alternatively, each support shall be connected to an effective earthing device.

(2) Each stay-wire shall be similarly earthed unless an insulator has been placed in it at a height of not less than ten feet from the ground.

68. Factors of safety.—(1) The owner of every aerial line shall ensure that it has the following factors of safety:—

(i) for metal supports, at least 2·5;

(ii) for other supports, at least 3·5;

(iii) for guard-wires or bearer-wires, at least 3;

(iv) for conductors, at least 2;

under all conditions, and that the strength of support in the direction of the line is not less than one-fourth of the strength required in a direction transverse to the line.

(2) For the purpose of calculating the factors of safety:—

(a) the maximum wind pressure shall be specified by the provincial Government in each case;

(b) for cylindrical bodies the effective area shall be taken as two-thirds of the sectional area exposed to wind pressure;

(c) for lattice steel or other compound structures the wind pressure on the lee-side members shall be taken as one-half of the wind pressure on the windward side members, and the factor of safety shall be calculated on the crippling load of struts and upon the elastic limit of tension members;

(d) the temperature shall be taken as 32°F. or such other temperature as the provincial Government may specify.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in sub-rules (1) and (2), in localities where aerial lines are liable to accumulations of ice or snow, the provincial Government may, by order in writing, specify such factor of safety as it may think fit and the conditions under which it is to be calculated.

69. Height from ground and distance from buildings.—(1) Every conductor of an aerial line (not being a trolley-wire or a traction-feeder on the same support as a trolley-wire) shall be—

(a) at least 20 feet above the ground where it is over any part of a street or other public place;

(b) inaccessible, either from the ground or from any building or structure, whether permanent or temporary, except by the aid of a ladder or other special appliance.

(2) Where an aerial line is on a consumer's or an owner's premises, the height of every conductor from the ground or from any mineral or refuse dump and from parts of buildings or structures to which persons have access shall, unless the conductors are adequately guarded, be not less than 15 feet or such greater height as may be necessary to prevent danger.

(3) The owner of the aerial line shall be responsible for ensuring that the provisions of sub-rules (1) and (2) are observed.

70. Erection or alteration of buildings.—(1) If, at any time subsequent to the erection of an aerial line, any person proposes to erect a new building or structure, whether permanent or temporary, or to make in or upon any building or structure any permanent or temporary addition or alteration, he shall, if such building, structure, addition or alteration would, during or after construction, result in a contravention of the provisions of sub-rule (1) or sub-rule (2) of rule 69 give notice in writing of his intention to the owner, and to an Inspector, and shall furnish therewith a scale drawing showing the proposed building, structure, addition or alteration and the scaffolding required during its construction:

Provided that the owner may, before so altering the aerial line, require the person from whom the notice was received to deposit the estimated cost of such alteration.

(2) On receipt of such notice the owner shall, without undue delay, so alter the aerial line as to ensure that it will not be accessible in such a manner as to contravene the provisions of sub-rule (1) or sub-rule (2) of rule 69 either during or after construction and shall be entitled to recover, from the person from whom the notice was received, the cost of such alterations which shall be deemed to include the following items namely:—

(i) the cost of additional material used on the alteration;

(ii) the wages of labour employed in effecting the alteration;

(iii) supervision charges to the extent of 15 per cent. of item (ii); and

(iv) any charges incurred by the owner in complying with the provisions of section 16 in respect of such alterations.

(3) No work upon the building, structure, addition or alteration shall be commenced until the Inspector has certified that neither during nor after construction the provisions of sub-rule (1) or sub-rule (2) of rule 69 will be contravened:

Provided that an Inspector may, if he is satisfied that the aerial line has been so guarded as to secure the protection of persons and property from injury or risk of injury, permit the work to be executed prior to, or, in the case of a temporary addition or alteration, without the alteration of the aerial line.

71. Conductors at different pressures on same supports.—Where conductors forming parts of systems at different pressures are erected on the same supports, the owners shall make adequate provision to guard against danger to linesmen and others from the lower pressure system being charged above its normal working pressure by leakage from or contact with the higher pressure system; and the type of construction and the clearances between the conductors of the two systems shall be subject to the prior approval of an Inspector.

72. Protection from lightning.—The owner of every aerial line shall adopt efficient means for protecting any portion of the line or any support, guard-wire or bearer-wire of the line which is so exposed as to be liable to injury from lightning.

73. Safety devices.—(1) The owner of every aerial line (not being suspended from a dead bearer-wire and not being a trolley-wire) erected over any part of a street or other public place or in any factory or mine or on any consumer's premises shall protect it with a device approved by an Inspector for rendering the line electrically harmless in case it breaks.

(2) An Inspector may by notice in writing require the owner of any such aerial line wherever it may be erected to protect it in the manner specified in sub-rule (1).

74. Lines crossing or approaching each other.—(1) Where an aerial line crosses or is in proximity to any telegraph-line the owner of the aerial line shall so protect it as to guard against the possibility of its coming into contact with the telegraph line.

(2) Within twenty-one days of receiving notice that a telegraph-line has been, is being or is about to be erected in proximity to his aerial line the owner of the aerial line shall provide the protection referred to in sub-rule (1).

(3) Where an aerial line crosses or is in proximity to an aerial line belonging to another person, the owner of the line which was last erected shall so protect it as to guard against the possibility of its coming into contact with the other aerial line.

(4) A person erecting or proposing to erect an aerial line which crosses or is in proximity to another aerial line may require the owner of the other aerial line within twenty-one days to provide the protection referred to in sub-rule (3).

(5) In all cases referred to in the preceding sub-rule the expense of making the guarding arrangement shall be borne by the person whose line was last erected.

(6) Where two lines cross, the crossing shall be made as nearly at right angles as the nature of the case admits.

(7) The guarding arrangement shall ordinarily be carried out by the owner of the posts on which it is made, and he shall be responsible for its efficient maintenance.

(8) All work required to be done by or under this rule shall be carried out to the satisfaction of the Inspector.

75. Lines crossing trolley-wires.—In the case of a crossing over a trolley-wire the guarding shall fulfil the following conditions, namely :—

(a) where there is only one trolley-wire, two guard-wires shall be erected as in the appended diagram A;

(b) where there are two trolley-wires and the distance between them does not exceed 15 inches, two guard-wires shall be erected as in the appended diagram B;

(c) where there are two trolley-wires and the distance between them exceeds 15 inches but does not exceed 48 inches, three guard-wires shall be erected as in the appended diagram C;

(d) where there are two trolley-wires and the distance between them exceeds 48 inches, each trolley-wire shall be separately guarded as in the appended diagram D;

(e) the rise of the trolley boom shall be so limited that, if the trolley leaves the trolley-wire, it shall not foul the guard-wires; and

(f) where a telegraph-line is liable to fall or be blown down upon an arm, stay-wire or span-wire, and so slide down upon a trolley-wire, guard hooks shall be provided to prevent such sliding.

76. Guard-wires.—(1) Every guard-wire shall be connected with the earth, at each point at which its electrical continuity is broken and, in the case of electric traction-lines, shall also be connected, at intervals of not more than five spans, with the rails.

(2) Every guard-wire shall have an actual breaking load of not less than 1,500 lbs., and shall, if made of iron or steel, be galvanised.

(3) Every guard-wire or cross-connected system of guard-wires, shall have sufficient current-carrying capacity to ensure the rendering dead, till the contact has been removed, of any live-wire coming into contact with it, without risk of fusing of the guard-wire or wires.

(4) Every guard-wire or system of guard-wires and its supports shall have sufficient strength to carry without breaking the extra load which may be put on them by the fall of any or all the wires guarded.

77. Alternative methods of guarding.—Alternative methods of guarding may be substituted with the approval of an Inspector for those required by rule 75 and rule 76.

78. Service-lines from aerial lines.—No service-line or tapping shall be taken off an aerial line except at a point of support.

79. High pressure aerial lines.—The owner of high pressure aerial lines shall not make them live until they have been approved by an Inspector, and shall make arrangements to the satisfaction of the Inspector to prevent any person from climbing up any of the supports without the aid of a ladder or special appliance while the lines are in use.

80. Unused aerial line.—(1) Where an aerial line erected in, over, along or across any street or other public place, ceases to be used as an electric supply-line, the owner shall maintain it in a safe mechanical condition in accordance with rule 68, or shall remove it.

(2) Where any aerial line ceases to be used as an electric supply-line, an Inspector may by a notice served on the owner, require him to maintain it in a safe mechanical condition or to remove it within fifteen days of the receipt of the notice.

CHAPTER IX.

ELECTRIC TRACTION.

81. Additional rules for electric traction.—(1) The rules in this Chapter apply only where energy is used for purposes of traction:

Provided that nothing in this Chapter shall apply to energy used for the public carriage of passengers, animals or goods on, or for the lighting or ventilation of the rolling-stock of, any railway or tramway subject to the provisions of the Indian Railways Act, 1890.

IX of 1890.

(2) In this Chapter the conductor used for transmitting energy to a vehicle is referred to as the "line" and the other conductor as the "return".

(3) The owner of the line, return, rails or trolley-wire, as the case may be, shall be responsible for the due observance of rules 82 to 94.

82. Pressure of supply to vehicle.—No person shall supply energy at high pressure on any trolley-wire or other conductor used in direct electrical and mechanical connection with any vehicle, except with the written approval of the provincial Government and subject to such conditions as the provincial Government may think reasonable and proper in the circumstances.

83. Insulation of lines.—Every line shall be insulated throughout.

84. Insulation of returns.—(1) Where any rails on which cars run, or any conductors, laid between or within three feet of such rails, form any part of a return, such part may be uninsulated. All other returns or parts of a return shall be insulated, unless they are of such conductivity as to secure the conditions required by the rule 85 (2) and (3).

(2) Where any part of a return is uninsulated, it shall be connected with the negative terminal of the generator.

85. Proximity to metallic pipes, etc.—(1) Where an uninsulated return is in proximity to any metallic pipe, structure or substance, not belonging to the owner of the return, he shall, if so required by the owner of such pipe, structure or substance, connect his return therewith at the latter's expense.

(2) Where the return is partly or entirely uninsulated, the owner shall, in the construction and maintenance of his system, adopt such means for reducing the difference produced by the current between the potential of the uninsulated return at any one point and the potential of the uninsulated return at any other point as to ensure that the difference of potential between the uninsulated return and any metallic pipe, structure or substance in the vicinity shall not exceed four volts where the return is relatively positive, or one and one-third volts where the return is relatively negative.

(3) The owner of any such pipe, structure, or substance as is referred to in sub-rule (2) may, in respect of it, require the owner of the uninsulated return at reasonable times and intervals to ascertain by test in his presence, or in that of his representative, whether the condition specified in sub-rule (2) is fulfilled; and, if such condition is found to be fulfilled, all reasonable expenses of, and incidental to, the carrying out of the test shall be borne by the owner of the pipe, structure or substance.

86. Difference of potential on return.—Where the return is partly or entirely uninsulated, the owner shall keep a continuous record of the difference of potential, during the working of his system, between every junction of an insulated return with an uninsulated return and the point on the route most distant from that junction, and the difference of potential shall not, under normal running conditions, exceed a mean value of seven volts between the highest momentary peak and the average for the hour of maximum load.

87. Leakage on conduit system.—Where both the line and the return are placed within a conduit, the following conditions shall be fulfilled in the construction and maintenance of the system:—

(a) where the rails are used to form any part of the return, they shall be electrically connected, at distances apart of not more than 100 feet, with the conduit by means of copper strips having a cross-sectional area of at least one-sixteenth of a square inch or by other means of equal conductivity. Where the return is wholly insulated and contained within the conduit, the latter shall be connected with earth at the generating station or sub-station through an instrument suitable for the indication of any contact or partial contact of either the line or the return with the conduit; and

(b) the leakage-current shall be ascertained daily, before or after the hours of running, when the line is fully charged; and, if at any time it is found to exceed one ampere per mile of single tramway track, the transmission and use of energy shall be suspended unless the leakage is stopped within twenty-four hours.

88. Leakage on other than conduit system.—Where both the line and the return are not placed within a conduit, the leakage-current shall be ascertained daily before or after the hours of running, when the line is fully charged, and if at any time it is found to exceed one-half of an ampere per mile of single tramway track, the transmission and use of energy shall be suspended unless the leakage is stopped within twenty-four hours.

89. Passengers not to have access to electric circuit.—Precautions to the satisfaction of an Inspector shall be taken by the owner of every vehicle to prevent—

(a) the access of passengers to any portion of the electric circuit where there is danger from electric shock;

(b) any metal hand-rail or other metallic substance liable to be handled by passengers becoming charged.

90. Current density in rails.—Where rails on which cars run are used as a return, the current density in such rails shall not, under ordinary working conditions, exceed nine amperes per square inch of cross-sectional area.

91. Isolation of sections.—Every trolley-wire shall be constructed in sections not exceeding one mile in length, and means shall be provided for isolating each section.

92. Minimum size and strength of trolley-wire.—No trolley-wire shall be of less cross-sectional area than eight one-hundredths of a square inch or shall have an actual breaking load of less than 4,500 lbs.

93. Height of trolley-wire and length of span.—A trolley-wire or a traction-feeder on the same supports as a trolley-wire shall nowhere be at a height from the surface of the street of less than 17 feet, except where it passes under a bridge or other fixed structure, or through or along a tunnel or mine-shaft or the like, in which case it shall be suspended to the satisfaction of an Inspector. The intervals between the supports shall not exceed 140 feet.

94. Records.—(1) The owner shall, so far as is consistent with his system of working, keep the following records, namely:—

(a) daily records showing:—

the maximum working current from the source of supply;

the maximum working pressure at the source of supply;

the difference of potential, as required by rule 86; and the leakage-current (if any), as required by rule 87 and rule 88; and

(b) occasional records showing—

every test made under rule 85 (2) and (3);

every stoppage of leakage, together with the time occupied; and particulars of any abnormal occurrence affecting the electrical working of the system.

(2) These records shall be open to inspection by an Inspector or by any person authorised in writing by an Inspector.

CHAPTER X.

ADDITIONAL PRECAUTIONS TO BE ADOPTED IN MINES AND OIL-FIELDS.

95. Application of Chapter.—(1) The rules in this Chapter apply only:—

(a) where energy is used in mines where the provisions of Part III of the Act apply; and

(b) where energy is used in oil-fields.

(2) In mines the rules in this Chapter do not apply to apparatus used above ground, excepting such apparatus as may directly affect the safety of persons below ground.

96. Responsibility for observance.—(1) It shall be the duty of the owner, agent, or manager of the mine, or of the agent of any company operating in the oil-field, or of the owner of one or more drilled wells situated in the oil-field, to comply with and enforce the following rules and it shall be the duty of all persons employed to conduct their work in accordance with the rules.

(2) An authorised person shall be on duty in every mine or oil-field while energy is being used therein.

104. Motors and their transformers.—(1) Where energy is distributed at a pressure higher than medium pressure:—

(i) it shall not be used without transformation to medium or low pressure except in fixed machines in which the high pressure parts are stationary; and

(ii) motors under 20 H. P. shall be supplied through a transformer stepping down to medium or low pressure.

(2) Where energy is transformed, suitable provision shall be made to guard against danger by reason of the lower pressure apparatus becoming accidentally charged above its normal pressure by leakage from, or contact with, the higher pressure apparatus.

105. Switchgear and terminals.—Switchgear and all terminals, cable-ends, cable-joints and connections of apparatus shall be totally enclosed, and shall be so constructed and installed as to comply with the following requirements:—

(2) Efficient means, suitably placed, shall be provided for cutting off all pressure from every part of a system, when necessary to prevent danger.

(3) Such efficient means shall be provided for cutting off all pressure automatically from the part or parts of the system affected in the event of a fault as may, in the opinion of an Inspector, be necessary to prevent danger.

(4) Every motor shall be controlled by switchgear for starting and stopping, so arranged as to cut off all pressure from the motor and from all apparatus in connection therewith, and so placed as to be easily worked by the person appointed to work the motor.

107. Cables.—All cables, other than flexible cables for portable apparatus, shall comply with the following requirements:—

(a) they shall be covered with insulating material (except that the outer conductor of a concentric system may be bare). They shall be efficiently protected from mechanical damage and supported at sufficiently frequent intervals and in such a manner as adequately to prevent damage to the cables or danger;

(b) (i) except as provided in clause (c), no cables other than concentric cables, or two-core cables or multi-core cables protected by a metallic covering, or single-core cables which contain all the conductors of the circuit, shall be used (1) where the pressure exceeds low pressure direct current or 125 volts alternating current or (2) when an Inspector considers that there is risk of igniting coal-dust or other inflammable material, and so directs; and

(d) the metallic covering of every cable shall be—

(i) electrically continuous throughout;

(ii) earthed, if it is required by sub-rule (1) of rule 103 to be earthed, by a connection to the earthing system of not less conductivity than the same length of the said metallic covering;

108. Flexible cables.—(1) Flexible cables for portable apparatus shall be two-core or multi-core unless they are required for electric welding, and shall be covered with insulating material which shall be efficiently protected from mechanical damage. If a flexible metallic covering is used either as the outer conductor of a concentric system or as a means of protection from mechanical damage, it shall not be used by itself to form an earth conductor for the portable apparatus, but it may be used for that purpose in conjunction with an earthing core.

(2) Every flexible cable for portable apparatus shall be connected to the system and to the portable apparatus by a properly constructed connector.

(3) At every point where flexible cables are joined to main cables a switch shall be provided which is capable of entirely cutting off the pressure from the flexible cables.

(4) Every flexible cable attached to a portable machine shall be examined periodically by the person authorised to work the machine, and, if such cable is used underground, he shall examine it at least once in each shift. If such cable is found to be damaged or defective, it shall forthwith be replaced by a spare cable in good condition, and shall not again be used until it has been properly repaired.

109. Portable machines.—The person authorised to work an electrically driven coal-cutter or other portable machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall, before leaving the place where such machine is working, ensure that the pressure is cut off from the flexible trailing-cable which supplies such machine. (a) all cables, apparatus, signalling wires and signalling instruments shall be so constructed, installed, protected, worked and maintained, that in the normal working thereof there shall be no risk of open sparking;

(b) all motors shall be so constructed that, when any part is live, all rubbing contacts (such as commutators and slip-rings) are so arranged or enclosed as to prevent open sparking;

(c) the pressure shall be cut off the apparatus immediately if open sparking occurs, and during the whole time that examination or adjustment disclosing parts liable to open sparking is being made. The pressure shall not be switched on again until the apparatus has been examined by the electrician or one of his duly appointed assistants and the defect, if any, has been remedied or the adjustment made;

(d) every electric lamp shall be enclosed in an air-tight fitting, and the lamp globe shall be hermetically sealed; and

(e) a safety lamp shall be provided and kept continually burning near each motor when working and, should the appearance of the flame of such safety lamp indicate the presence of inflammable gas, the pressure shall be cut off immediately from all apparatus in the vicinity and the matter shall be reported forthwith to an official of the mine.

(2) If at any time in any place the percentage of inflammable gas in the general body of the air is found to exceed one and a quarter, the supply of energy shall be cut off immediately from all cables and apparatus in that place and shall not be recommenced so long as the percentage of inflammable gas exceeds that amount.

Calcutta, the 22nd March 1937.

Research Scholarships to be awarded in 1937.

Three Research Scholarships will be awarded for the encouragement of original research to candidates who have high and special qualifications and appear to be likely to conduct original research with success. The value of each scholarship is Rs. 75 a month.

2. Ordinarily one scholarship will be awarded annually to a student who proposes to carry on original research in scientific subjects, including such branches as natural and physical science, chemistry, mathematical science, etc., and another scholarship will similarly be awarded for research in literary subjects, including such branches as languages, comparative philology, palæography, epigraphy, philosophy, history, archæology, anthropology, etc., and the third scholarship will be awarded for research either in scientific or in literary subjects. No application for a research scholarship will be considered unless a candidate submits certificates showing that he has the capacity for undertaking the research proposed and a programme of work indicating a definite course of enquiry.

3. Election will be made in the first instance for one year only, with effect from the 1st July 1937, but a scholarship may be renewed from year to year up to the limit of three years, provided the scholar has throughout the year vigorously prosecuted original research in the subject selected by him.

4. Each candidate for a scholarship should submit his application through the head of the institution in which he last studied to the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, on or before the 10th May next, and must produce evidence of having passed from a College or other institution in Bengal the M.A. or M.Sc. examination of the Calcutta or Dacca University, or of having obtained some other equivalent or higher degree of either of these Universities in 1934 or 1935 or 1936. He must state as definitely as possible the subject or part of the subject in which he intends, if elected to a scholarship, to carry on his original investigation. He must also state the name of the institution in which he proposes to work, with evidence that the authorities of the institution are able and willing to provide facilities for him, or if no institution is mentioned, the circumstances or conditions under which he proposes to work should be stated.

5. Each candidate is required to submit with his application a declaration to the effect that, if selected, he will not undertake any work, either paid or unpaid, or sit for any examination, or pursue any course of studies except that of original research in his selected subject during the tenure of his scholarship.

6. The application from each candidate should contain a note from the authority forwarding the application as to how long the proposed research will take.

7. The candidate must be a native or domiciled in Bengal.

8. Applications for this year's scholarships should be submitted in prescribed forms, which are obtainable from the Personal Assistant to the Director of Public Instruction, Writers' Buildings, Calcutta.

J. M. Bottomley,

Director of Public Instruction, Bengal.

Medical College, Calcutta, 1937.

Rules for the guidance of students seeking admission into the Medical College, Calcutta.

1. Two classes of students are admitted to the college:—

(1) Civil pupils' class.—Admission to this class is restricted to students, male or female, who were born within or whose parents are domiciled within the territorial jurisdiction of the Calcutta University. Three students are also eligible for admission from the Dacca University area and three from the Dacca Intermediate Board. Students from other provinces and from Indian States for whom places have been reserved are also eligible for admission to the college.

Only students who intend to take the M. B. examination of the Calcutta University are admitted to this class.

(2) Military pupils' class.—Only European or Anglo-Indian students are admitted to this class (see separate prospectus for military pupils whose admission is regulated by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service).

NOTE.—Casual students are not admitted. No students are admitted other than those in one or other of the above classes.

2. The minimum preliminary qualification for admission is the First Class Pass certificate of the I. Sc. examination of the Calcutta University with Physics, Chemistry and Mathematics or an examination recognised as equivalent to it. This rule may be relaxed in favour of Muhammadan students and such candidates having passed the said examination in the second division may be admitted, provided they are otherwise considered suitable, to make up the number allotted for the Muhammadan students. In assessing the claims of those eligible for admission special weight will be attached to proficiency in English.

3. (a) Female students qualified under rules 1 and 2 will be admitted to the college, provided there is a vacancy in the Swarnamoyee Hostel in which all female students must reside. For special reasons to be recorded in writing, the Principal may allow any female student to reside outside this Hostel.

(b) Female students studying in the college but belonging to provinces other than Bengal and not domiciled in Bengal will pay rents for accommodation in the Swarnamoyee Hostel.

4. The session commences with the summer term which begins on the 15th June and ends on the day before the commencement of the Durga Puja holidays. The winter term commences on the day after close of the Durga Puja holidays and ends on the 31st March.

5. All applications direct from new students in Bengal for admission to the college should be accompanied by a fee of Rs. 4 which will not be refunded.

All new students must apply for admission to the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, in the prescribed form, available in his office before the 25th May except in the following cases:—

(a) Students from other provinces for which places are reserved should apply to the Inspector-General, Civil Hospitals, of those provinces for admission within such dates as that officer may prescribe.

(b) The candidates from Indian States will be nominated by the States themselves.

(c) Students from the Dacca University area will be selected as follows:—

(i) Three students will be selected by the Dacca University, and (ii) Three students by the Chairman of the Dacca Intermediate and Secondary Education Board.

6. The number of civil students to be admitted each year is 105. Vacancies are allotted as follows:—

Other provinces and Indian States including 1 from Nepal State	8
Dacca	6
Surgeon-General's nominees	5
Women	5
Muhammadan	21
Others	60

Preference for admission will usually be given to candidates who have superior qualifications, but the final selection lies entirely with the Selection Committee appointed by Government.

(a) Besides the students nominated by the Indian States under rule 5 (b), one student will be nominated by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Central Provinces, six students (including one female student) by the Inspector-General, Civil Hospitals, Assam, and six by the authorities mentioned in rule 5 (c).

These students must possess the qualifications mentioned in rule 2 and the nomination must reach the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, before the 10th June each year, failing which the vacancies will be filled with local candidates. Vacancies arising by resignation or otherwise in places filled by reservation for the authorities in paragraph (a) cannot be filled again by those authorities during the year.

The Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the fund are (1) that widowed daughters incapable of re-marriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominee predecease them after five years of admission. The second quinquennial valuation of the Fund has been completed by the Actuary to the Government of India, and his report discloses very favourable results. For forms of application and rules of the Fund apply to the Accountant-General, Bengal, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.

PROTOCOL ON ARBITRATION CLAUSES.

The undersigned, being duly authorised, declare that they accept, on behalf of the countries which they represent, the following provisions :

1. Each of the Contracting States recognises the validity of an agreement whether relating to existing or future differences between parties subject respectively to the jurisdiction of different Contracting States by which the parties to a contract agree to submit to arbitration all or any differences that may arise in connection with such contract relating to commercial matters or to any other matter capable of settlement by arbitration, whether or not the arbitration is to take place in a country to whose jurisdiction none of the parties is subject.

Each Contracting State reserves the right to limit the obligation mentioned above to contracts which are considered as commercial under its national law. Any Contracting State which avails itself of this right will notify the Secretary-General of the League of Nations in order that the other Contracting States may be so informed.

2. The arbitral procedure, including the constitution of the Arbitral Tribunal, shall be governed by the will of the parties and by the law of the country in whose territory the arbitration takes place.

The Contracting States agree to facilitate all steps in the procedure which require to be taken in their own territories in accordance with the provisions of their law governing arbitral procedure applicable to existing differences.

3. Each Contracting State undertakes to ensure the execution by its authorities and in accordance with the provisions of its national laws of arbitral awards made in its own territory under the preceding articles.

4. The Tribunals of the Contracting Parties, on being seized of a dispute regarding a contract made between persons to whom Article 1 applies and including an Arbitration Agreement whether referring to present or future differences which is valid in virtue of the said article and capable of being carried into effect, shall refer the parties on the application of either of them to the decision of the Arbitrators.

Such reference shall not prejudice the competence of the judicial tribunals in case the agreement or the arbitration cannot proceed or becomes inoperative.

5. The present Protocol, which shall remain open for signature by all States, shall be ratified. The ratification shall be deposited as soon as possible with the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who shall notify such deposit to all the Signatory States.

6. The present Protocol will come into force as soon as two ratifications have been deposited. Thereafter it will take effect, in the case of each Contracting State, one month after the notification by the Secretary-General of the deposit of its ratification.

7. The present Protocol may be denounced by any Contracting State on giving one year's notice. Denunciation shall be effected by a notification addressed to the Secretary-General of the League, who will immediately transmit copies of such notification to all the other Signatory States and inform them of the date on which it was received. The denunciation shall take effect one year after the date on which it was notified to the Secretary-General, and shall operate only in respect of the notifying State.

8. The Contracting States may declare that their acceptance of the present Protocol does not include any or all of the undermentioned territories : that is to say, their colonies, overseas possessions or territories, protectorates or the territories over which they exercise a mandate.

The said States may subsequently adhere separately on behalf of any territory thus excluded. The Secretary-General of the League of Nations shall be informed as soon as possible of such adhesions. He shall notify such adhesions to all Signatory States. They will take effect one month after the notification by the Secretary-General to all Signatory States.

The Contracting States may also denounce the Protocol separately on behalf of any of the territories referred to above. Article 7 applies to such denunciation.

THE SECOND SCHEDULE.

Convention on the Execution of Foreign Arbitral Awards.

Article 1.—In the territories of any High Contracting Party to which the present Convention applies, an arbitral award made in pursuance of an agreement, whether relating to existing or future differences (hereinafter called "a submission to arbitration") covered by the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses opened at Geneva on September 24th, 1923, shall be recognised as binding and shall be enforced in accordance with the rules of the procedure of the territory where the award is relied upon, provided that the said award has been made in a territory of one of the High Contracting Parties to which the present Convention applies and between persons who are subject to the jurisdiction of one of the High Contracting Parties.

To obtain such recognition or enforcement, it shall, further, be necessary :

(a) That the award has been made in pursuance of a submission to arbitration which is valid under the law applicable thereto ;

(b) That the subject-matter of the award is capable of settlement by arbitration under the law of the country in which the award is sought to be relied upon ;

(c) That the award has been made by the Arbitral Tribunal provided for in the submission to arbitration or constituted in the manner agreed upon by the parties and in conformity with the law governing the arbitration procedure ;

(d) That the award has become final in the country in which it has been made, in the sense that it will not be considered as such if it is open to opposition, appel or pourvoi en cassation (in the countries where such forms of procedure exist) or if it is proved that any proceedings for the purpose of contesting the validity of the award are pending ;

(e) That the recognition or enforcement of the award is not contrary to the public policy or to the principles of the law of the country in which it is sought to be relied upon.

Article 2.—Even if the conditions laid down in Article 1 hereof are fulfilled, recognition and enforcement of the award shall be refused if the Court is satisfied :

(a) That the award has been annulled in the country in which it was made;

(b) That the party against whom it is sought to use the award was not given notice of the arbitration proceedings in sufficient time to enable him to present his case ; or that, being under a legal incapacity, he was not properly represented ;

(c) That the award does not deal with the differences contemplated by or falling within the terms of the submissio ı to arbitration or that it contains decisions on matters beyond the scope of the submission to arbitration.

If the award has not covered all the questions submitted to the arbitral tribunal, the competent authority of the country where recognition or enforcement of the award is sought can, if it thinks fit, postpone such recognition or enforcement or grant it subject to such guarantee as that authority may decide.

Article 3.—If the party against whom the award has been made proves that, under the law governing the arbitration procedure, there is a ground, other than the grounds referred to in Article 1- (a) and (c), and Article 2(b) and (c), entitling him to contest the validity of the award in a Court of Law, the Court may, if it thinks fit, either refuse recognition or enforcement of the award or adjourn the consideration thereof, giving such party a reasonable time within which to have the award annulled by the competent tribunal.

Article 4.—The party relying upon an award or claiming its enforcement must supply, in particular ;

(1) The original award or a copy thereof duly authenticated, according to the requirements of the law of the country in which it was made ;

(2) Documentary or other evidence to prove that the award has become final, in the sense defined in Article 1 (d), in the country in which it was made ;

(3) When necessary, documentary or other evidence to prove that the conditions laid down in Article 1, paragraph 1 and paragraph 2 (a) and (c), have been fulfilled.

A translation of the award and of the other documents mentioned in this Article into the official language of the country where the award is sought to be relied upon may be demanded. Such translations must be certified correct by a diplomatic or consular agent of the country to which the party who seeks to rely upon the award belongs or by a sworn translator of the country where the award is sought to be relied upon.

Article 5.—The provisions of the above Articles shall not deprive any interested party of the right of availing himself of an arbitral award in the manner and to the extent allowed by the law or the treaties of the country where such award is sought to be relied upon.

Article 6.—The present Convention applies only to arbitral awards made after the coming into force of the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses, opened at Geneva on September 24th, 1923.

Article 7.—The present Convention, which will remain open to the signature of all the signatories of the Protocol of 1923 on Arbitration Clauses, shall be ratified.

It may be ratified only on behalf of those Members of the League of Nations and non-Member States on whose behalf the Protocol of 1923 shall have been ratified.

Ratifications shall be deposited as soon as possible with the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who will notify such deposit to all the signatories.

Article 8.—The present Convention shall come into force three months after it shall have been ratified on behalf of two High Contracting Parties. Thereafter, it shall take effect, in the case of each High Contracting Party, three months after the deposit of the ratification on its behalf with the Secretary-General of the League of Nations.

Article 9. The present Convention may be denounced on behalf of any Member of the League or non-Member State. Denunciation shall be notified in writing to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations, who will immediately send a copy thereof, certified to be in conformity with the notifications, to all the other Contracting Parties, at the same time informing them of the date on which he received it.

The denunciation shall come into force only in respect of the High Contracting Party which shall have notified it and one year after such notification shall have reached the Secretary-General of the League of Nations.

The denunciation of the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses shall entail, ipso facto, the denunciation of the present Convention.

Article 10.—The present Convention does not apply to the Colonies, Protectorates or territories under suzerainty or mandate of any High Contracting Party unless they are specially mentioned.

The application of this Convention to one or more of such Colonies, Protectorates or territories to which the Protocol on Arbitration Clauses opened at Geneva on September 24th, 1923, applies, can be effected at any time by means of a declaration addressed to the Secretary-General of the League of Nations by one of the High Contracting Parties.

Such declaration shall take effect three months after the deposit thereof.

The High Contracting Parties can at any time denounce the Convention for all or any of the Colonies, Protectorates or territories referred to above. Article 9 hereof applies to such denunciation.

Article 11.—A certified copy of the present Convention shall be transmitted by the Secretary-General of the League of Nations to every Member of the League of Nations and to every non-Member State which signs the same.

In addition to the details required on the reverse, clear information should be given below under the following heads:—

(a) If the ordinary surplus is insufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan, the particular steps which the municipality has taken, or has agreed to take, in order to make good the deficiency.

Information.

(a) The ordinary surplus is sufficient to meet the charges of the proposed loan. The expenditures in the years 1933-34 and 1934-35 were higher than our usual ordinary expenditures on water-supply owing to the re-excavation of the reserved tank at a great cost. Our annual receipts for the water rate is over Rs. 13,000 and our ordinary annual expenditure on the water-supply is about Rs. 11,000. So there is an annual surplus of nearly Rs. 2,000 on this head, which is quite sufficient to meet the annual charges for the principal and interest due on it. Our financial position is very strong and our water rate fund is quite sufficient to meet the yearly instalments of loan. Our revenues on water rate will be increased by over Rs. 1,000 from the current year due to the quinquennial assessment.

(b) The reserve of taxation or other possible means of increase in the revenues of the municipality. The rates at which each of the taxes mentioned in column 12 on the reverse are levied, other than tax on persons, should be stated here.

(b) Tax on holdings have been introduced in all the five wards of the municipality. The recent quinquennial revision of taxes as made by the Assessor, has considerably strengthened the municipal revenue and will effect an increase of the water rate by more than Rs. 1,000 annually. The taxes are levied at the following rates:—

	Per cent.
House tax	... 7½
Latrine Rate	... 6
Water Rate	... 4
Total	.. 17½ per cent. per annum.

(c) A statement of all outstanding loans specifying, in respect of each loan, the date when taken, the purpose (very briefly), the amount, the annual charges involved and the amount still payable.

(c) We have got only one outstanding loan of Rs. 5,000 which was taken on 10th March 1927 for the 1st extension of the waterworks which cost the municipality Rs. 70,850. We have up to date paid 16 instalments and the balance of the said loan now stands at Rs. 3,712. The municipality contemplates to clear up the balance of this loan out of the loan applied for now. The present half-yearly charges on the said loan is Rs. 225-2 including interest.

(d) Any explanations in regard to receipts and expenditure to show the true financial position of the municipality when such position is otherwise than the ordinary surplus would indicate.

(d) The balance of the water rate fund at the hands of the municipality stands at Rs. 8,104 on the 31st of March 1935, which shows that there is surplus of income over expenditure every year. The expenditures in the years 1933-34 and 1934-35 were higher than our usual ordinary expenditures on water-supply owing to the re-excavation of the reserved tank at a great cost. Our annual receipts from water rate fund is over Rs. 13,000 and ordinary annual expenditure on water-supply is about Rs. 11,000. So, there is an annual surplus of over Rs. 2,000 on this head, which is quite sufficient to meet the charges for the principal and interest due on it.

No. 5080Com.—17th April 1937.—The following report of the Court of Enquiry appointed by the Government of Bengal under section 21 (1) of the Indian Mines Act, 1923 (IV of 1923), is published as required under section 22 of the said Act.

A. HUGHES,
Dy. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Report under section 21 of the Indian Mines Act on the disaster at Poidih Colliery which occurred on the 18th of December 1936.

1. Ownership and management of the colliery.—The Poidih Colliery belongs to the Bengal Coal Company, Limited, whose Managing Agents are Messrs. Andrew Yule and Company. This and other collieries belonging to the Company at the time of the accident were under the supervision of Mr. C. W. G. Hindley, who was appointed Acting Chief Mining Engineer on the death of Mr. Cunningham who was killed in a mining accident in July 1936. Mr. Cunningham had succeeded Mr. Wardlow in March 1936. Mr. R. P. Rosser was Mr. Hindley's Personal Assistant and made frequent inspections of Poidih Colliery on behalf of Mr. Hindley, who as Chief Mining Engineer of the Company had charge of 20 to 30 collieries. The Manager of the mine was Mr. E. Dobbs. Mr. Jas Thomson, Chief of the Survey Department, Messrs. Andrew Yule and Company, also assisted Mr. Hindley by inspecting this and other mines on his behalf.

Mr. R. H. Worthington, a Director of Messrs. Andrew Yule and Company, has assured us that the whole technical direction of the colliery was left to their Chief Mining Engineer, whose duties included the laying out of the workings and the control of the mine through the Manager; and who, as Agent, was responsible together with the Manager to the Mines Department for the safety of the mine.

We are satisfied that the officers employed by the Company, from the Manager upwards, were all fully qualified men.

2. Description of the colliery.—Poidih Colliery is situated about 7 miles from Asansol and 2½ miles from Sitarampur. It consists of workings in the Dishergarh seam. A plan of the mine, brought up to date by the Chief Inspector of Mines, is attached to this report.*

There are two shafts, 740 and 754 feet deep. Coal was reached in 1931 and since then the mine has been worked continuously. The seam is about 15 feet thick and the coal is of high quality.

At the time of the accident, extraction of pillars was going on in the places marked on the plan as the main west dip depillaring district and No. 6 east dip depillaring district. In two other areas near the shaft, depillaring had been done. One of those areas was sealed off by stoppings. There are two areas of disturbed ground both adjoining the shafts. The seam is traversed by several dykes, most of which are in the neighbourhood of the shafts.

3. Description of the accident.—The evidence of Mr. Davies, Manager of the adjoining colliery of Bejdih, fixes the time of the accident with accuracy as 10-52 standard. He heard the noise of the explosion from a distance of about ¼ of a mile, and about 4 seconds afterwards perceived a large cloud of black smoke and dust with white smoke in the middle come out of each shaft simultaneously. He went straight to Poidih Colliery, and found, on arrival, that smoke was still coming up from each shaft but in less quantity. About 2 minutes after his arrival, i.e., about 12 minutes after the explosion, ventilation began to resume its normal course, i.e., down the downcast and up the upcast shaft. The latter shaft continued to emit smoke for some time.

A second eye-witness of the explosion, Banku Bowri, surface trammer, was shunting empty tubs at the top of No. 1 shaft, when he saw smoke coming from the pit and then heard an explosion. He jumped off the pit bank and escaped with his life. There were four men with Banku, at the time, namely, Fakir, the signalman, who was killed by the explosion, and three trolley men, who escaped. In addition to Fakir's, a second body and parts of a third body were found on the surface, but they could not be identified. It seems probable that they were blown up the shaft by the explosion.

The state of the pit head just after the explosion has been clearly described by Mr. N. Barraclough, Inspector of Mines, a member of the Coal Mining Committee. He and other members of the Committee were returning to Asansol from Saltore Colliery, and passed by Poidih at 11-35 a.m. on the 18th December. Meeting an excited crowd, they went at once to the colliery arriving five minutes later. Mr. Barraclough's description, given verbatim, is as follows:—

"At No. 1 Downcast Shaft.—The west cage had been blown to the top of the headgear, where it was held. The rope was detached from its pulley and the overwinding bell boxes, with the two heavy girders supporting them, had been blown over the pulley wheels. On the east side, the pulley wheel had been broken and the top girders bent. The cage keps and the heavy girders supporting them had been dislodged and left suspended 3 feet above their original position. The wall, 3 feet in thickness, which surrounded the shaft from ground level to the banking level, had been blown down, one block of masonry, weighing about a ton, having been shifted about 20 feet from the shaft. Empty tubs on the banking level had been smashed and some had been blown off the banking level. A steel corrugated sheet shelter over the banking level had been destroyed. Under the debris on the south side of the shaft was the mutilated body of the banksman.

No. 2 Upcast Shaft.—The pit top covering had been blown into the headgear. The west cage which had been at the top of the shaft at the time of the accident was resting on the keps, but the other cage which had been near the bottom of the shaft at the time of the accident had been blown up the shaft into the headgear, a distance of over 700 feet. The top of the shaft was blocked by a tangled mass of ironwork and ropes. The fan was standing, with the fan doors open.

About 20 yards south-east of the shaft there was a body so badly smashed as to be beyond recognition. The bonnets of three safety lamps which had probably been those used at the bottom of the shafts were also found on the surface.

There was black smoke and soot coming up the upcast shaft".

It is clear that the violence of the explosion within the mine must have been terrific, and its extent considerable, in order to cause such damage at the pit head.

4. Measures taken immediately after the explosion.—Mr. Barraclough on his arrival at 11-40 a.m. assumed charge of the situation in his official capacity as Inspector of Mines. He sent word to the Chief Inspector of Mines, who was at Dhanbad, and requisitioned policemen to control the gathering crowd. He asked the head clerk to inform him about the number of persons underground, and learned that the number was 151 persons, including the Manager. This number was subsequently found to be incorrect, for reasons which will be explained later on.

Mr. Barraclough proceeded then, in consultation with several Mine Managers who had arrived at the spot, to make preparations for descending the downcast shaft. It was obvious that several hours' work was necessary before even temporary arrangements for descent could be made. Descent of the upcast shaft was out of the question owing to smoke and asphyxiating gases. It was realised by all present that there was very little possibility of any person being left alive in the mine, but Mr. Rosser and Mr. Thomson, who had arrived, pointed out that there was a bottle-neck at the bottom of the North East District, and suggested that it was possible for persons in that district to be still alive. The only thing that could be done to help such persons was to increase the quantity of fresh air going into the mine, by re-starting the fan, and suspending brattice cloth round the headgear and over the cross girders of No. 2 upcast shaft, in order to form a temporary airlock, so that air might be effectively exhausted from the pit.

The fan was started at 1 p.m. and by 1-30 p.m. was doing effective work. The bratticing was completed at 2 p.m. Simultaneously with this work, clearing of debris at No. 1 pit head went on, and arrangements were taken in hand for the purpose of bringing into use a sinking bucket for lowering an exploratory party into the mine. This work was completed by 8-45 p.m.

In the meantime, the Chief Inspector of Mines had arrived (at 1-45 p.m.). He was informed of the arrangements made, and approved of them. Mr. Barraclough stated that he anticipated that the explosion would be followed by a fire, and had kept this danger clearly in view. It was realised by all present that exploratory work would be difficult and dangerous, but that the attempt would have to be made, in view of the possibility (remote though it was) that some persons might still be alive, below ground.

5. Exploratory work after the disaster—1st Party.—Programme for exploratory work was drawn up by the Chief Inspector, and at 9 p.m. a party consisting of Mr. Barraclough (leader), and Messrs. Wilkinson, Barron and Rosser descended the shaft in a bucket, with safety lamps, electric torches, some light tools, and a cage of birds. Descent had to be slow and cautious, owing to obstructions in the shaft. There was also danger, during the descent, from loose brickwork. Bottom was reached at 9-30 p.m. The condition of the bottom of the shaft is thus described by Mr. Barraclough:—

"The protective roofing of the shaft, consisting of a heavy concrete and girder structure on both sides, had been blown inwards and rested on the top of the cage. There were loose guide ropes coiled on the top of other debris. A wall of brickwork in mortar about 30 inches thick, at one side of the shaft, had been blown away. A number of tubs, both full and empty, had been driven into the shaft bottom".

It was decided to explore the east side first. Mr. Barron was left at the bucket to give signals. There was a clear air current in the shaft bottom. The party climbed over the debris in the shaft bottom and on to a row of full tubs in the east side level. At the side of the tub there was dust 2 feet in thickness. Evidence of great violence was found at the end of the set of full tubs. A piece of rock weighing about 80 lbs. had been carried along the level a considerable distance and had knocked a hole through the steel plate of the end tub. The full tubs, of which there were twelve, had not been derailed. At the point (B) on the plan (Plan No. 2) the wall in the cross-cut had fallen into the level. At the point (A) there was white smoke at the roof. At the point (C) there was a fall of roof, forming a cavity which was filled with white smoke. Beyond the point (C) the whole roadway was filled with white smoke.

All the ventilation stoppings which could be examined had been blown to considerable distances and the bricks broken to small pieces. At the point (D) the stopping in the gallery had been blown down and the bricks broken to small pieces and strewn from one shaft level to the other. The air was clear but had an odour characteristic of "gob-stink".

On the west side of the shaft bottom, empty and full tubs were found tightly packed across the full width of the roadway. Some of the tubs had been overturned, others canted at various angles, and one empty tub had been lifted on to the top of others and jammed against the roof. In the cross-cut gallery (H) there were four empty tubs, one being on the top of the others. Two bodies were found at the points x.x. The limbs were broken, the hair appeared to have been singed and the skin on the palms of the hands and the soles of the feet was peeling off, indicating burning. The bodies were badly smashed and it is probable that they had been carried a considerable distance by the force of the explosion. At (G) there was thick white smoke coming out of the rise gallery and drifting across the level for a depth of two or three feet from the roof. Fresh air was passing along the level under the smoke as well as short circuiting down the dip gallery with the smoke into the return airway. A test was made for inflammable gas at this point and a full "cap" was obtained indicating at least 4 to 5 per cent. of "inflammable gas". Mr. Barraclough assumed from this that the rise workings were full of inflammable gas combined with other gases. The Chief Inspector of Mines considers, and we agree, that this assumption was correct.

By this time Mr. Barraclough had a severe headache, and his knees were shaking probably because he had advanced further than the others into the noxious gases to make the tests. Moreover, the party had been underground for more than the time allotted to them by the Chief Inspector of Mines, viz., one hour. They therefore returned to the shaft bottom and re-ascended. The time was then 10-15 p.m.

While the other three of the party had been away from the shaft bottom, Mr. Barron had gone into a rise gallery to the point (F) where he found a stopping blown down and smoke near the roof. At the point (E), a large electric transformer, weighing about a ton, had been blown over in a direction away from the shaft.

6. Conference after the first exploratory party.—The Chief Inspector of Mines, after receiving the report of the exploratory party, held a conference with the members of the party, Mr. Worthington, a Director of the Company, the Agent and several of the Company's Colliery Managers, besides other Mining Engineers. The conference was unanimously of opinion that conditions underground were very dangerous, and that it seemed impossible that any person left underground could have survived.

The Chief Inspector of Mines considered that before any further exploratory work could be undertaken with a reasonable measure of safety, the top of the downcast shaft should be further cleared and loose brickwork removed from the sides of the shaft. It was decided to carry out this work during the night and to attempt further exploration the following day.

7. Second exploratory party.—By 10-45 on the 19th of December, preparations were complete for the second descent, which commenced at 11 a.m. The party consisted of Messrs. Barraclough, Wilkinson, Barron, and an overman of the colliery, Babu A. N. Sen Gupta. They got traces of "gob-stink" when passing the Burra-dhemo "inset" on the way down the shaft.

The overman was left at the bottom and the rest of the party continued to explore.

On the west side at the point (G) it was found that the white smoke had increased and had spread along the roof almost to the bottom of the shaft. The quantity of air passing along the level was decidedly less than on the previous night. At this point a test showed the presence of inflammable gas. A sample of the atmosphere was also taken. At the point (I) the pump pipes had been broken and the corrugated roof sheeting had fallen across the pumps. The wall against the shaft side had been destroyed. At the point (J) 3 per cent. of inflammable gas was found in the air and a sample of the atmosphere taken. The samples of air taken showed the presence of inflammable gas, carbon dioxide, and a deficiency of oxygen. One of them gave 1 per cent. of carbon monoxide but the other showed none of that gas. The conditions in the upcast pit bottom were as follows:—

"The heavy protective roofings at the shaft bottom had been blown inwards and had pushed the guide ropes together. The guide ropes appeared to be intact and no other material damage was observed. On the east side at (D) tests for inflammable gas were made and it was found that the main body of the air travelling towards the upcast shaft contained 2½ per cent. of inflammable gas. A safety lamp, which appeared to be undamaged, was seen lying near the point (D). A change had taken place at the point (D). The atmosphere which had been clear the previous night had become 'foggy'. At (B) white smoke or vapour was coming out of the rise gallery and passing across the level into the dip gallery 'K'. There was also white smoke or vapour passing along the level from the direction of (C) and visibility was only possible for a short distance along the floor beyond the point (K). A test for inflammable gas at the point (K) gave a full 'cap'. The birds which were being carried became affected and were found to be dead shortly after the party reached the surface at about 12-15 p.m."

The party reported to the Chief Inspector of Mines at once, all of them being of opinion that conditions below ground were worse than on the previous occasion.

8. Attempt to get response from those entombed.—The possibility of anyone being alive underground seemed now more remote than ever. No sign of life had been noticed by either exploratory party, and Mr. Barraclough had got no response to his shouts when below ground. The whole mine seemed to be full of asphyxiating gases and it was impossible for any exploratory party to proceed for any distance. If any person had survived the explosion (which was most improbable) it seemed practically certain that he must have been asphyxiated. As a last resort, however, Dr. Penman arranged for Mr. D. Heron, Manager of Sodepur No. 9 and 10 pits, to traverse the barrier between his colliery and Poidih and to knock on the coal. This was carried out over the whole length of the accessible barrier between Poidih and Sodepur, but no response was obtained.

9. Conference after the second explorators' party.—After the second party reached the surface, the Chief Inspector held another conference with the officials of the Company, Agents, and Managers of collieries and members of the exploratory party.

There was a considerable body of opinion in favour of closing the mine at once, in view of the probable existence of fire in the mine and the danger of another explosion, if fresh air continued to be circulated. The Chief Inspector gave this proposal most careful consideration and decided that he could not agree to it without obtaining the opinion of other Mining Engineers who had knowledge of underground fires. He agreed, however, to a temporary stoppage of the fan, in order that the gases from the mine might come up the upcast shaft in a less diluted form, and might be examined in this state, from the surface, in order to estimate the probable conditions in the interior of the mine. It was argued, with considerable force, that the whole system of ventilation must have been wrecked by the explosion. Fresh air, therefore, was not reaching the recesses of the mine, but was passing, by a short circuit, down one shaft and up the other.

10. Final conference about closing the mine.—The final conference of experts took place on 20th December, and lasted from 9-30 a.m. till noon. It was attended by a large number of experienced Mining Engineers from both the Raniganj and Jharia coalfields. The most experienced Engineers were of opinion that the smell at the top of the upcast shaft indicated the presence of fire in the mine. Messrs. Barraclough, Wilkinson and Barton, members of both exploratory parties, had formed the same opinion from the conditions observed by them below ground. The conference were unanimously of opinion that there was no possibility of anyone being alive in the mine, and that the probability was that all were dead shortly after the explosion. Opinion was unanimous that the shaft should be sealed. The Chief Inspector then agreed to the sealing of the shafts. He has placed it on record that he came to this decision with extreme reluctance and a heavy heart, because no other course was open to him.

11. Remarks on the action taken subsequent to the accident.—We are definitely of opinion that the action taken after the accident was prompt and adequate, considering that no trained rescue team equipped with the necessary apparatus was available, that the exploratory work was well organised and that the members of the exploratory parties carried out their dangerous and, in some cases, self-imposed duties, with great courage, as well as with discretion. Further exploratory work would have been useless and dangerous, and the final decision to close the mine was supported by a weighty body of professional opinion.

12. Prospect of re-opening the mine.—It seems unlikely that the mine will be re-opened for several months, and after re-opening, it will take some time before the whole mine can be safely explored. After re-opening operations have been finished, detailed examination of the mine may furnish more definite evidence regarding the cause of the disaster. In the meantime this report is being submitted on the basis of the evidence at present available.

13. Uncertainty regarding cause of the accident.—The available evidence is at present insufficient to justify a definite finding as to the causes of the disaster, and after carefully considering the plan of the mine and the descriptions given by various witnesses of the conditions below ground before and after the accident we find it difficult to explain how an explosion of such great violence could occur.

As no explosives were used in the mine, it is extremely probable that the accident had its origin in the accidental ignition of an accumulation of inflammable gas rather than coal dust, but there is no definite evidence to show from what part of the mine the explosion originated, how it was propagated through the galleries, or what was the igniting cause.

14. The igniting cause.—Any one of the following causes may have originated a gas explosion:—

(a) A defect in, or accidental damage to, a safety lamp.
(b) Misuse of a safety lamp in the presence of gas.
(c) A light from a match or other apparatus for producing a light.
(d) A spark from electrical apparatus.
(e) A spark from some other accidental cause, e.g., a falling stone in a goaf, or a runaway tub.

15. Coal dust and gas as probable causes.—It is more easy to explain the violence of the explosion if it is assumed that a secondary explosion of coal dust followed the initial gas explosion. It is also possible that the original explosion may have released an accumulation of gas and so caused secondary explosions.

Wherever the explosion originated, and however it was propagated, it seems probable, from its great violence and from the way in which its force was directed from both sides towards No. 1 shaft, that it was not one explosion only, but a series of separate explosions following one another in quick succession from one part of the mine to another. A gas explosion followed by a coal dust explosion may have been followed again by another gas explosion.

An air blast in one of the goaves might raise a cloud of coal dust in the adjacent galleries which the ignition of inflammable gas would explode. Then this coal dust explosion might, by breaking down the stoppings of the walled off goaf, release and almost simultaneously explode inflammable gas which had accumulated behind those stoppings.

16. Where the main explosion occurred.—The main explosion which wrecked the mine probably occurred at some distance from the shafts. No flame was seen coming out of the pit at the time of the explosion, and there was no evidence of flame, in or in the vicinity of, the shafts after the explosion, which forced itself with great violence through both shafts. And from the observations of the exploratory parties, it seems that the force of the blast came towards the downcast shaft almost equally from both sides. Mr. Barraclough has deposed that the exploratory party found soot but no signs of coking. If a coal dust explosion is assumed, this fact points towards the same conclusion, namely, that the explosion probably originated at some distance from the shaft (vide pages 19 and 20, Bulletin 167, U. S. A. Bureau of Mines, quoted by Mr. Barraclough in the note appended to his evidence).

17. Places where gas may have accumulated.—Let us now consider, having regard to the plan of the mine, in what part of it such an explosion could possibly originate.

The mine is one in which inflammable gas has been detected from time to time. In one place, as the evidence shows, gas was given off continually in very small quantities, and it is possible that even smaller quantities were elsewhere coming into the workings without being detected. But since the 27th of May previous to the accident, no inflammable gas had been reported as found in any of the workings. Before that date, gas had been detected occasionally in working faces, and had been dealt with in the usual way by dilution with air from the ventilating current. In recent months gallery driving had reached the boundaries in practically every part of the mine, and at the time of the accident only two galleries remained to be driven through the coal. It is possible for isolated pockets of gas to be encountered in the small galleries which are driven to split pillars before extraction, or even in the pillars themselves during extraction. But it is in gallery driving proper that gas is most frequently tapped, so the management had very little reason to expect to tap a fresh source of gas in the coal seam.

18. Possibility of gas in the goaves.—But, in addition to the danger of gas from this source, there is the possibility that gas may have lodged in some of the goaves created by the extraction of coal pillars, and may have been suddenly expelled by a caving-in of the roof. Such goaves existed in the following four districts:—

(1) The Main West Dip District.—Here coal extraction was going on at the time of the accident. A goaf had been formed, covering an area of about 500 feet long between barriers and 100 to 250 feet in breadth from the extreme dip upwards. The roof had fallen to a height of from 10 to 30 feet above the seam, but the main roof had not come down. The overmen and sirdars in the relays preceding the day relay of 18th December state that the goaf was quiet, that is, no further falls of roof were imminent. Inspections for gas, at the edge of and inside the goaf, had been made by the Manager and others from time to time, but no gas had been found. These tests were, however, not conclusive. It was impossible to reach the extreme height in order to test for gas, and after the first roof fall it is possible that an accumulation of inflammable gas remained undetected in the cavities and in the breaks or joints above.

(2) No. 6 West Dip District.—This is situated nearer the shafts than the first mentioned goaf. It is a smaller excavation, its dimensions being 350 feet long and 50 to 150 feet broad, from dip to rise. It also had reached its dip barrier limit and was being brought backwards in the process of pillar extraction. On the 18th December, and for some time previously, coal extraction in this area had been at a standstill owing to shortage of miners, but the usual statutory inspections were being made. Some local roof falls had already taken place but no further falls were considered to be imminent. As in the main west district, it is possible there was some accumulation of gas in the roof cavities.

(3) No. 5 West Crosscut District.—This adjoins the last mentioned district and is separated from it on its west side by a coal barrier 70 feet thick, containing one opening in which a masonry water dam had been built. The dimensions of this goaf were roughly 500 feet square, and on the rise side, for a length of about 200 feet, it adjoins the shaft pillar. Unlike the other depillaring districts, it had been worked out, and was isolated from the rest of the mine by seven masonry stoppings of substantial construction, in addition to the water dam mentioned above. The height up to which the roof had fallen was unknown. It is probable that gas had lodged in the roof cavities here.

The late Manager, on one occasion at least, found inflammable gas outside these stoppings and reported the fact to Mr. Rosser. The gas was dispersed by increasing the ventilating current outside the stoppings. This discovery indicates that there was probably some inflammable gas behind these stoppings. Water was accumulating inside the goaf and had risen to above the dam level. There was an outlet pipe in the dam which had been blank-flanged. The only escape for air or gas compressed by the rise of the water would be through or around the edges of the stoppings. It does not appear that the water edge had reached the site of the stoppings. The east edge of the goaf was at a dyke which continued across the shaft levels and to the rise

(4) No. 6 East Dip District.—Lies to the east of the district just described and is separated from it by a solid barrier described on the plans as "disturbed ground," of an average width of about 200 feet. Extraction had been started, as in the other districts, from the dip barrier, and a goaf had been formed about 450 feet long and 200 feet broad from dip to rise. At one point, for a short distance of 50 feet, the goaf was within 60 feet of the main return level of No. 2 pit. Owing to the shortage of labour, there had been no actual cutting of pillars in this district recently, but only a little roof coal cutting. The roof was reported quiet within the goaf.

This goaf is traversed by several small dykes. The disturbed ground on the west, likewise, has dykes and a fault running through it. From one of these dykes in the shaft main level the sound of gas escaping in small quantity was always to be heard. This goaf possibly contained some inflammable gas. No further falls of roof were expected, according to the night shift officials.

19. Possibility of explosion of gas in the goaves.—The method of pillar-extraction followed in this mine, namely, working from the dip boundaries towards the rise, was calculated to minimise accumulation of gas in the goaves. Such accumulation would tend to begin only after the first cavity was formed. The gas would then be liable to expulsion by roof falls, and to become ignited after expulsion under certain circumstances. Though all goaves were reported as quiet and without any roof weighting, in the relay preceding the one during which the explosion occurred, the possibility of a roof fall cannot be ignored.

20. Possibility of gas explosion elsewhere than near the goaves.—Returning to the possibility of a gas explosion in the few remaining "whole" workings, that is, on the East Rise Gallery District, we think this to be extremely unlikely as the source of the disaster, although gas might be emitted from the dyke which forms the rise boundary of this district. This dyke is one of those which were suspected of giving off the gas which caused an explosion at the adjoining Aldih Colliery in November 1933. But in Poidih Colliery, no emission of gas from this dyke had been detected, although it had been touched by four galleries. Assuming that an undetected quantity was present and exploded, it could not have caused so serious a disaster, as the quantity must have been small and the district being very wet, no propagation by coal-dust would have been possible. Accumulations of inflammable gas in the old workings to the rise of the shafts on both east and west sides were only remotely possible These workings were regularly inspected and were kept ventilated throughout

21. General conclusion regarding nature of the explosion.—We agree with the opinion expressed by the Chief Inspector of Mines that the disastrous results of the explosion were due either to the ignition of a considerable body of a highly explosive mixture of fire-damp and air, or to a comparatively smaller body of this mixture followed by an explosion propagated by fine coal-dust. On no other assumptions can we explain the extent and violence of the explosion.

22. Suspicion falls on the depillaring districts.—Now, if combustion of coal-dust played a part in the explosion, it seems to us that the primary ignition of inflammable gas probably took place in the neighbourhood of one of the four districts where depillaring operations were or had been in progress. Our reasons for this opinion are, firstly, that in these districts an accumulation of inflammable gas to cause the initial explosion could more easily occur, through expulsion from the goaves, than in the rise workings, whether old or in progress; and secondly, that in the rise workings, it was practically impossible for a coal-dust explosion to be propagated, as the district is naturally wet throughout.

23. Of the four depillaring districts, we consider that the Main West Dip depillaring area is the most likely seat of the disaster, if it was caused by a comparatively small explosion of gas, initiating a coal-dust explosion.

The other depillaring districts are all closer to the shafts, and we have already given reasons for considering that the main explosion took place at some distance from the shafts. No. 5 West Crosscut District, in particular, seems the most unlikely of all, as it is mainly under water.

24. Coal-dust conditions.—Regarding coal-dust conditions in the Main West Dip District, Mr. Chatterjee, Junior Inspector of Mines, has testified that during his inspections on the previous 22nd August and 6th October he was fairly satisfied with conditions, and that he considered that the bye-laws in force at Poidih were being carried out as far as was practicable at that time. From that we may conclude that conditions were not favourable for a coal-dust explosion; but, on the other hand, it is a fact that it was the intention of the management, at the instance of the Chief Inspector of Mines, to take further steps, by stone-dusting, to improve the underground conditions and render them safer. Preparations to this end were already in hand. We infer that as regards coal-dust the district was reasonably safe, but not absolutely so. If coal-dust of the proper fineness and dryness existed in sufficient quantities, there may have been a coal-dust ignition here. If this were arrested by lack of sufficient suitable material to carry the propagation as far as the mine outlets, the absence of the major evidence of a coal-dust explosion, that is, coking of the coal-dust, and flame near or in the shafts, would be accounted for.

25. Places where a big explosion of gas may have occurred.—In considering the possibility of an explosion purely or at least mainly of fire-damp, we have to assume that a relatively large quantity of gas existed and was ignited, and our attention is called to the goafed and goafing areas (3) and (4) (vide paragraph 18 above) especially the latter. In contrast to the goaves in the areas (1) and (2) these are traversed by dykes and lie adjacent to what is described as disturbed ground, through which other dykes and a fault run. One at least of these dykes continually exuded gas in small quantities.

Mr. Thomson, while Manager in June 1935, found gas in the East Dip District, when the fan had been stopped for a few hours owing to breakdown, and ascribed its presence to exudations from three dykes on the rise of the district. We think therefore that, in order to obtain as complete a picture as we can of the possible factors, we should realise that these areas may have acted as reservoirs or receptacles for gas, and that this gas may have been released by breakdown of the strata following extraction of pillars. In No. 6 East Dip District any gas given off in ordinary quantities would have been carried into the main return airway and to the upcast shaft, but it is conceivable that larger quantities coming off at some pressure might find their way into the intakes of the main rise district, and might be carried along and ignited, under favourable conditions.

26. Gas in the mine after the accident.—A feature of the disaster is the large volume of inflammable unexploded gas found in the mine by the two exploring parties which descended 12 and 24 hours after the explosion. The quantity cannot be estimated, as only at the edges, at or comparatively near to, the shafts, could tests be made. But it was clear that the quantity had increased between the first and second descents, a safety lamp test made by Mr. Barraclough showing a 3 per cent. mixture in the full air current, the fan running at the time. The rise workings, at least, were full of inflammable gas, probably highly concentrated, and doubtless for some distance in the direction of the dip there would be gas, probably less concentrated. Dr. Penman has suggested that this accumulation may have represented the ordinary "make" of the mine in 12 or 24 hours with little or no ventilating current passing into the workings, plus what may have been ejected from the walled off goaf to the dip of the shafts subsequent to the explosion. In the absence of any exact data, however, we think that there may have been some other source of supply. If an abnormal discharge of gas caused the explosion, this discharge may have continued and may even have increased, after the explosion.

27. Number of persons involved in the accident.—The Chief Inspector has calculated the number of persons underground at the time of the accident as 208 including the Manager. The calculation appears to us to be correct. All these perished. In addition, as already described, one more was killed at the pit head by the explosion, so that the total casualties were 209, of whom 63 were women. All these women were below ground at the time of the accident. The number of women below ground was therefore greatly in excess of the permissible percentage, viz., 8 per cent. The attendance register, however, showed as below ground only 144 men and 6 women, excluding the Manager, whose name was not on the register. This discrepancy was due to deliberate falsification of the attendance registers by the attendance clerks under the instructions of the late Manager Mr. Dobbs. There was similar falsification of the safety lamp issue registers. For instance, the entries in the lamp issue register relating to the shift which perished show 153 lamps issued only. The colliery employees who kept up these registers have admitted that they falsified the entries. Their plea is that they had to obey the Manager's instructions.

28. The true number of casualties how ascertained.—The Manager obviously had to keep a true record of the persons entering the mine. But he wished to conceal from the Government Inspectors the fact that he was employing women over the permissible percentage. Under his instructions, therefore, only a few women were entered in the attendance register. The names of the others were noted in a rough scrap book. To keep up the deception, it was necessary also to falsify the lamp issue register, for the lamp issue clerk has to record against the name of each person going down mine the number of the particular safety lamp issued to him or her. In addition, therefore, to the ordinary lamp issue register, there was a separate scrap book kept, in which the names of the extra women and the numbers of the extra lamps issued were noted. From the rough scrap books kept by the attendance and lamp issue clerks, together with the regular registers, it has been possible to ascertain the names of all those persons who perished in the mine on the 18th December. The real stage of affairs as regards the numbers below ground was discovered by Mr. Cameron, Inspector of Mines, during enquiries made by him after the accident.

29. Responsibility of the Manager and his staff for the employment of excess women.—It is clear from the evidence that this fraudulent system, by which the presence of excess women below ground was concealed, was the invention of Mr. Dobbs, and had not been practised by previous Managers. At the same time, there are indications that it had been going on for several months. Precautions were also taken to conceal the women from the Inspector of Mines on the occasion of his visits. Mr. N. C. Chatterjee, Junior Inspector of Mines, paid visits to Poidih Colliery without previous notice on 22nd August 1936 and 6th October 1936. He has stated that in course of his inspections on those dates he examined the attendance register and checked it with the safety lamp register, and found nothing irregular. He has also deposed that he took notice of the number of women to be seen below ground and had no reason to suspect that the permissible number was being exceeded. The Chief Inspector has stated that Mr. Chatterjee is most meticulous in his work, and careful and alert in matters of detail, and that no blame attaches to him for failure to detect the fraud. We agree with this. In fact, the careful manipulation of the registers indicates that Mr. Dobbs knew very well that the Government inspection would be thorough and took his precautions accordingly.

By falsification of the attendance register, the attendance clerks seems to have rendered themselves liable under regulation No. 149 and bye-law No. 95. The lamp issue clerks' liability under the regulations is not so clear, as they did actually record the number of the safety lamps issued to each person, and there is no prescribed form for the register to be kept by them (vide regulation 126 and bye-law 95).

The labour contractor, Babu Ram Kinkar Sarkar, also must have known of the excess women in the mine and practically admits so in his evidence, but he disclaims liability, and it is difficult to fix any statutory liability on him.

30. Responsibility of the Agent for excess of women.—We have carefully considered, in the light of the available evidence, whether any of the late Mr. Dobbs' superiors knew or should have known about the employment of excess women. It is clear that in the daily returns submitted to the Agent, which show, amongst other things, daily attendance of labour below ground, there is nothing to indicate any malpractice.

The only reports which were submitted to Mr. Hindley's office and which contained reference to labour attendance were the daily raisings returns. In columns alongside the tonnage figures the attendance of miners and "Kamins", that is, female loaders of coal, were shown separately. Messrs. Hindley and Rosser would know that the figures of coal-raisings were authentic, and having gone into the details of these reports covering seven days immediately before the accident, we consider that they would not have been justified in doubting the accuracy of the attendance figures, for the following reason:—

For the week preceding the disaster 877 tons of steam coal and slack were raised from the mine with a declared total labour attendance of 1,228 miners and Kamins so that the average yield per head per shift was about 14 cwts., i.e., about the capacity of one tub. The output being confined practically to coal from pillar cutting, and mining conditions generally being favourable for output, this may be considered as a very poor average yield, and certainly did not denote that there was any under-reporting of labour attendances. Comparisons between these reports and the attendance registers would have revealed only small discrepancies, if any, and we hardly think that any officer superior to the Manager would have felt that there was any need for investigation by him. The only criticism that can justly be levied against the Agent and his Assistants in this connection is as follows:—

The reason why so many women were employed underground was in all probability the difficulty which Mr. Dobbs, like other Managers, was experiencing in finding sufficient labour to keep raisings of coal up to the required standard. The shortage of labour was abnormal not only in this, but in other collieries. The Agent and his Personal Assistant had to keep on pressing the Manager to increase his output. But they did not, as they admit, pay particular attention to the way in which the Manager was tackling the difficulty arising from the shortage of labour, nor did they question him as to whether he was tempted to employ an excess of females in order to maintain a sufficient output of coal. We consider it would have been better if the Agent and his Personal Assistant had interested themselves in this matter. Mr. Thomson, on behalf of the Agent, paid two visits to the mine between the middle of November and the date of the accident, to enquire about despatching of coal. He did not see the Manager on either occasion or go underground. It is clear that Mr. Thomson had much less opportunity than the Agent's Personal Assistant, Mr. Rosser, to discover the presence of excess women underground. Mr. Rosser visited the mine on an average once in three weeks, and went below ground with the Manager on these occasions. He did not notice any excess of women below ground, and in our opinion, he was not likely to do so unless he had paid particular attention to this matter.

31. Precautions taken against accidents—ventilation.—The mine was known to be a gassy one. The seam gave off inflammable gas, and it had been detected on 27th May 1936 and on several previous occasions. Safety lamps were in use, and there was regular testing for gas. The need for adequate ventilation, which is the chief safeguard against explosions, was clearly recognised, and an electrically driven fan was kept constantly running at the top of the upcast shaft during the greater part of the year.

Mr. Dobbs appears to have stopped the fan at certain times of the day from 26th to 28th November, stopped it from 20th to 28th November, run it for a short time on 2nd December and then stopped it from 3rd December to the time of the accident. The Agent and his Personal Assistant both knew the fan had been stopped, and raised no objection. The latter deposes that the ventilation was excellent with the fan stopped. Some previous Managers of this same mine had also stopped the fan in the cold weather, and found that at this season of the year the natural ventilation was quite sufficient. The evidence of the overmen is to the same effect. The Chief Inspector of Mines has gone carefully into the question of ventilation, and has come to the conclusion that air was being properly coursed round the mine. The evidence that no gas was being found in the working places, points, he says, to the same conclusion. The Chief Inspector considers that ventilation was adequate up to the relay before the accident occurred. He has given his opinion, however, that it was a mistake to stop the fan He points out (1) that the records show that the draught produced by natural ventilation was about 20,000 cubic feet per minute less than at the corresponding time in the previous month and about 10,000 cubic feet per minute less than in the month of May of the same year, (2) that the mine had grown more extensive and (3) that the fan had been kept running in the previous cold weather. He admits, however, that there is nothing, apart from the explosion, to show that the stoppage of the fan led to inadequacy of ventilation; and it is right to point out that, although the mine had extended to a small extent as compared with the previous year, the number of galleries driven in the solid were only two in number, and hence the ventilation system had become more simplified on the whole

Perhaps the fairest way to sum the matter up would be as follows:—

In the light of subsequent events, it is a pity that the fan was stopped; for to keep it running would have been an additional precaution, which just possibly might have averted the explosion by preventing accumulation of gas; but to say that the management were actually at fault in stopping the fan, would be going too far.

32. Precautions taken against accidents—coal-dust.—Special bye-laws prescribing precautions against explosion of coal-dust had been in force in this mine since 24th January 1936. These bye-laws are as follows:—

"1. The floor, roof and sides of airways, haulage and travelling roads of parts thereof, which are not naturally wet, shall be systematically cleared of all loose coal-dust so as to prevent, as far as practicable, dry coal-dust accumulating, and such clearings of coal-dust shall be sent out of the mine."

"2. The airways, haulage and travelling roads and working places or parts of the same which contain dry coal-dust shall be treated with water or stone dust in such manner and at such intervals as will ensure immunity from the danger of ignition by coal-dust from any cause."

"3. A special examination of the underground roadways and working faces shall be made at least once a month or, if these places are naturally wet throughout, at intervals not exceeding three months, by a competent underground official, and a report (to be recorded in a book kept at the mine for the purpose) made on their condition as to the nature of coal-dust present and the steps taken to mitigate any danger arising therefrom."

The first question for consideration is whether these bye-laws were being observed. Mr. N. C. Chatterjee, Inspector of Mines, reported on 22nd August 1936 that "water was being allowed to run down the haulage dips to keep them damp. The present Manager is not in favour of providing sprays on roadways. The level roads are periodically treated with ashes. The eastern rise section was found to be naturally wet throughout". Mr. Chatterjee was generally satisfied that the bye-laws for coal-dust were being complied with. The Chief Inspector was not satisfied, however, with the watering arrangements and directed another inspection. This was done by Mr. Chatterjee on 6th October 1936. On receiving his report, the Chief Inspector was still not fully satisfied, and informed the Inspector of Mines that adequate watering of the roadways or stone dusting should be insisted on

The Inspector wrote to the Agent, who replied that the measures taken at Poidih Colliery were of a temporary and experimental nature; that a mill was shortly to be constructed to supply stone dust to Poidih Colliery; and that in the meantime watering of the haulage roads and regular sweeping to prevent accumulations of coal-dust was being carried on as the best means available for the present, to meet requirements.

As to the actual state of the mine just before the accident, the evidence of the overmen, of Mr. Rosser and of Mr. Hindley indicates clearly what precautions against coal-dust were being taken.

Overman Abanindra Nath Sen Gupta, for instance, deposes that since Mr. Chatterjee's last inspection both east and west main haulage roads had been kept dust-free. White-washing has been done, and arrangements made for regular watering. The water pipes were kept open continuously to keep the haulage dip roadway wet. The floor throughout the section under this overman (i.e., west dip depillaring section, which was not naturally wet) was kept thoroughly wet and free from dust.

This evidence is corroborated by Mr. Rosser, who inspected the mine on behalf of the Agent a week before the disaster. He considered that the bye-laws relating to coal-dust were being satisfactorily carried out. Mr. Rosser candidly admits, however, that coal-dust may have played some part in the explosion. "I do not think it is likely", he says, "that a pure gas explosion could cause such damage".

The Agent Mr. Hindley stated as follows:—

"I have no idea how this accident could have been caused. In compliance with the bye-laws regarding coal-dust, we were watering haulage roads in the dip workings, the rise workings being naturally wet. The first steps we took were to course water down the haulage roads in the dip working to keep the floors thoroughly wet. Coolies were also employed to sweep up and take away any fine dust that we could discover. The methods of dealing with this matter were gradually being improved and it was my intention to adopt stone dusting as soon as we could get a stone mill erected at the adjoining colliery. The machinery had been constructed and erection work was expected to begin within a few days. Since I have taken over, I have speeded up the arrangements for stone dusting at all collieries at which bye-laws have been established."

Again, Mr. Hindley says:—

"When I got the letter from the Inspector of Mines, No. 2 Circle, that he did not consider the method of dealing with coal-dust adequate, I discussed the matter with Mr. Rosser and replied to the Inspector of Mines. Later, I talked it over with the Manager. We agreed that dry sweeping was no use. We decided to put stone dust down as soon as we could."

On this evidence, we think it is clear that bye-laws (1) and (3) were properly observed. As regards bye-law (2) the position was not quite so satisfactory. The watering of the dry parts of the mine was confined to the roadways only, leaving the roof and sides neither sprayed with water nor treated with stone dust as the bye-law prescribed.

We are satisfied that the Agent and the Company had intended to comply fully with the second bye-law and had made preparations for a supply of stone dust for Poidih. Unfortunately the supply was not available up to the time of the accident. It should be added that it is by no means certain that the mine would have been completely safeguarded against explosions of coal-dust even if the bye-laws had been fully complied with. The Chief Inspector of Mines has stated in his report that precautions against coal-dust are of comparatively recent origin in Indian mines, and that, while much has been done, chiefly at his instance, much remains to be done. Some groups of collieries prefer watering, and others stone dusting. There has been doubt in some minds as to whether watering is to be preferred to stone dusting, and also as to what standard of precaution could be considered adequate. The Chief Inspector is of opinion that coal-dust in old galleries may be a danger, although, up to the present, attention has been paid to the treatment of coal-dust at what has been considered the most dangerous parts of the mine, viz., haulage and tramming roads, travelling roads, airways and working places.

Our conclusions as regards coal-dust precautions in this mine may be summed up as follows:—

(1) Those responsible for the management and control of the mine did make an honest effort to take adequate precautions against coal-dust but had not, up to the time of the accident, fully complied with bye-law No. 2, to the satisfaction of the Chief Inspector.

(2) In view of the probability that explosion of coal-dust played an important part in the accident, it is possible that the precautions taken were not as a matter of fact adequate.

(3) Even if the existing bye-laws had been fully complied with, the danger of coal-dust explosion would not have been entirely absent.

33. Precautions against accidents—safety lamps.—In Poidih Colliery, safety lamps were in use throughout the mine. The question arises whether regulations and bye-laws relating to their use were properly observed.

The Chief Inspector is of opinion that an adequate number of lamp cleaners, examiners and issue clerks was maintained in the lamp cabin, and that there was an ample number of lamps to ensure that they could be cleaned and examined between relays. In addition to the instruction of lamps on issue, a weekly inspection of, and report on, all safety lamps was made by competent persons to the Manager and Agent. We think, on the evidence, that the rules were being complied with, except for the fact that the lamp issue register was being manipulated, along with the attendance registers, in order to conceal from Government Inspectors the fact that the number of women employed underground was beyond the permissible percentage. But the lamp issue men who gave evidence before us did not seem to have sufficient sense of responsibility, and no great reliance can be placed on their testimony. It is a matter of doubt, in our opinion, whether they were actually performing their duties conscientiously, though our impression may be due to their seeking to evade responsibility, after the accident.

34. Precautions against accidents—searches for matches, etc.—In respect of searches, the procedure at Poidih Colliery was in advance of the regulations and bye-laws, which, although they prohibit possession of matches and smoking apparatus, etc. [regulation 127(e)] do not prescribe that persons entering mines should be searched for concealed matches, etc. The lamp checker, who was stationed at the entrance to the shaft, not only examine the safety lamps of those entering the mine but asked each person to make sure that he had no "biri" or matches with him, and also searched such men as he suspected. Women were not searched (evidence of Bagola Prasad Mondal corroborated by Gobinda Barui).

35. Appointments by the Manager under regulations 127, etc.—Under regulation 127 and bye-laws 26 and 27, lamp issue clerks have to be competent persons appointed by the Manager. Now, if we were to believe the evidence of these clerks, some of them were not duly authorised. But we are unable to accept their evidence in this respect. Mr. N. C. Chatterjee, Inspector of Mines, says that he inspected the mine on 6th October 1936 and was satisfied that those persons who should be authorised, were authorised. Harihor Roy, lamp issue clerk, told Mr. Chatterjee, that he had no authorisation letter, but in cross-examination before us, he admitted that he got an authorisation from a previous Manager, Mr. Rosser. We think it probable that some of those witnesses who have denied receipt of authorisations have deposed falsely with the idea of evading responsibility. In the absence of any complete register showing all appointments or authorisations in force at this colliery, no conclusion can be drawn from the non-discovery of a complete set of copies of authorisations. If the witnesses wished to deny their authorisations they would probably do away with some of the copies. Regulation 25, which deals with appointments by the Manager of the supervising staff of the mine, is not sufficiently stringent. Under this regulation, copies of such appointments have to be kept in the office at the mine but they need not be noted in any register. In our opinion a bound register of authorisations should be preserved.

36. Recommendations.—The making of recommendations is, strictly speaking, not within the scope of this enquiry, but the facts which have transpired indicate that action on the following lines may be advisable:—

(1) Improvement of the present system of mining, as far as possible, so as to prevent accumulation of gas in goaf cavities, which frequently form reservoirs for the accumulation of inflammable gas. This question, we understand, is at present under the consideration of the Coal Mining Committee.

(2) The attention of Agents and Managers of gassy mines should be drawn to the necessity of keeping mechanical ventilators working continuously in order to safeguard against any unforeseen accumulation of inflammable gas.

They should be advised to bring to the notice of the Inspector of Mines any prolonged stoppage of such ventilators.

(3) It is advisable that a regulation should be introduced to make it compulsory that persons entering a gassy mine should be searched. This regulation might be framed on the lines of section 35(2) of the English Coal Mines Act of 1911.

(4) Regulation 25 should be amended so as to provide that a bound register should be kept at every colliery, showing all appointments or authorisations of competent persons by the Manager.

(5) A regulation should be framed requiring the Manager or a competent person appointed by him to examine all the safety lamps in use at the mine at least once a week, and to record the result of such examinations in a book to be kept at the mine for the purpose.

(6) We think that electric safety lamps are less liable to misuse in the hands of irresponsible persons, and their use by all persons except the supervising and inspecting staff should be encouraged, in preference to the flame type of lamp. This is particularly advisable when extraction of pillars is being carried on. We do not advise, however, that the use of electric lamps in place of the flame type should be compulsory.

(7) Regulation 122 should be amended so as to specify more clearly the points at which the monthly measurements of air shall be made.

(8) A regulation should be issued requiring old workings in gassy mines, and particularly places in which inflammable gas may accumulate, to be examined once a week by competent person and the results recorded in a book kept at the mine for the purpose.

(9) We are impressed with the dangers arising from coal-dust in gassy mines and are of opinion that existing regulations and bye-laws regulating coal-dust should be examined with a view to their consolidation and possibly more stringent application. But in view of the limited scope of the present enquiry, and the controversial nature of the technical questions involved, we do not make any specific recommendations. We understand that the question is one of those engaging the attention of the Coal Mining Committee.

(10) We invite attention of the fact that in Poidih mine there were goaves isolated by stoppings in such a way as to make it impossible to ascertain whether inflammable gas was accumulating behind these stoppings. It is advisable that in a stopping or series of stoppings there should be arrangements whereby atmospheric conditions behind the stoppings can be readily ascertained.

37. In conclusion we wish to acknowledge our indebtedness in this enquiry to the careful and thorough report prepared by the Chief Inspector of Mines; to record our thanks to the Director and Managing Agents of the Bengal Coal Company, Limited, and to the Agent of the colliery, for the great assistance they have given to us in this enquiry; and to express our appreciation of the promptness and efficiency of the action taken after the disaster and of the courage of those who, at great personal risk, descended the mine with the exploratory parties.
